Miss Shigeno met her future husband when she was a civilian employe of SCAP in Tokyo and he was employed as an assistant superintendent of a hydroponic plant there. She is to arrive in Washington, March 17.

Charges Administration Has Reversed Its Policy

By WILLIAM THEIS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 16—Sen. Hickenlooper (R) Iowa, charged today that the administration reversed itself as a result of charges by Sen. McCarthy (R) Wis., that communists have invaded the state department.

Hickenlooper based his charges on the department's recall of John Stewart Service, U. S. consul to Calcutta, for re-examination of his loyalty. The Iowa senator said that the recall was 'very significant and rather startling".

Kept Waiting Too Long

He charged further that senate investigators have been kept waiting too long for government loyalty files in the McCarthy inquiry.

Hickenlooper, a member of the five-man senate subcommittee probing McCarthy's charges added that secret records scrutinized should include FBI and civil service documents, as well as those of the state department.

So far, the subcommittee, headed by Sen. Tydings (D) Mo., has been promised a look at the state department records.

The recall of Service came 24 hours after Sen. McCarthy (R) Wis., testified before the Tydings group that the far eastern expert was a poor security risk and had been rejected on March 3, 1950, by

Huge Loss In Fire In Kansas

Estimate $2,800,000 Loss In Kansas City

NORTH KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 16.—(INS)—Flames that raged for 13 hours through a Goodyear Rubber Co. plant-warehouse in North Kansas City and caused $2,800,000 damage were brought under control early today.

Thousands of spectators crowded the scene to watch the blaze burn itself out in the gutted four-story structure, afire since yesterday afternoon.

The damage estimate was made by John Bailey, Goodyear division manager, who said 80,000 tires and 70,000 inner tubes were stored in the warehouse.

Says Congress Will Not Add Any New Taxes

WASHINGTON, March 16.—(INS)—Senate Finance Committee Chairman George (D) Ga., predicted flatly today that there will be no new taxes this session of Congress.

It is the first time that anyone approaching the stature of the Senate finance committee chairman has been so definite in predicting that Congress will turn down the new tax request made by President Truman in his tax message.

All tax bills must clear through Sen. George's committee. The senator also predicted that there will be no new taxes voted to take the place of an almost certain excise tax slash on luxuries. He said the outlook is for Congress to cut expenditures elsewhere and to close tax loopholes to make up the money lost by such a cut.

Warns, However Against Rousing Of False Hopes

Major Address On U.S. Policy Made At Berkeley, Calif.

(BULLETIN)

BERKELEY, Calif., March 16—(INS)—Secretary of State Acheson offered Russia today a seven-point plan to end the cold war but said the United States is no "international sucker" and warned against the rousing of "false hopes."

Acheson declared in a major address:

"We want peace, but not at any price. We are ready to negotiate, but not at the expense of rousing false hopes which would be dashed by new failures . . .

No International Sucker

"We are always ready to discuss, to negotiate, to agree, but we are understandably loath to play the role of international sucker."

The secretary said his seven-point plan offers a way to "free the world from the destructive tensions and anxieties of which it has been the victim in these past years." But he added grimly:

"I see no evidence that the Soviet leaders will change their conduct until the progress of the free world convinces them that they cannot profit from a continuation of these tensions."

The cold-war peace plan unfolded by the cabinet member in an address before the conference on international cooperation for world economic development, at the University of California, proposed:

Plan Proposed

1. Definition of World War II peace terms. Acheson said that with regard to Germany "unification under a government chosen in free elections under international observation is a basic element in an acceptable settlement."

2. Withdrawal of Soviet military and police forces used to "keep in power persons or regimes which do not command the confidence of the respective peoples, freely expressed through orderly representative processes." The secretary said this would mean Soviet adherence to the Yalta declaration.

3. Abandonment of the Soviet

Crommelin is under orders reducing him to half pay and dismissing him as aviation officer for the western sea fronter.

Placed on indefinite furlough by navy secretary Matthews, Crommelin declared on the west coast that he will neither retire nor stop his attacks on Penatagon unification policies. He said:

"If I ever start backing down, you'll know I've been given the Cardinal Mindszenty treatment."

Gibbs' Murder Trial Evidence Is Concluded

LANCASTER, Pa., March 16.—(INS)—Defense Attorney W. Hensel Brown today rested his case and a jury prepared to ponder the fate of Edward L. Gibbs, 25-year-old "impulse" slayer of Marian Louise Baker.

The commonwealth has demanded the death penalty for Gibbs, married Franklin and Marshall College senior who has confessed bludgeoning the 21-year-old campus secretary.

Just before the defense rested, District Attorney Ranck recalled Dr. Edward Strecker, prominent Philadelphia psychiatrist, to the stand. Ranck asked:

"Do you feel this defendant may kill again?"

Strecker, a defense witness, replied:

"I think it is possible that he might."

Later, however, the University of Pennsylvania psychiatrist told a newsman that "I couldn't be sure" Gibbs might commit another murder if freed.

The case neared the jury after four days of testimony during which Gibbs insisted that nothing other than an "impulse" drove him to kill the college secretary.

Burns Cause Child's Death

Taylor Township Tot Fatally Burned

Third degree burns of the body, received when her sweater caught fire from the open flame of a gas stove in the kitchen of her home Wednesday resulted in the death of Joy Eileen Wade, aged 6 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Wade, of R. D. 9, Taylor township, in the New Castle hospital, Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Mrs. Wade had put some water on the stove to make tea, and went outside for a few moments. She was horrified to see her daughter come running from the home with her clothing afire. Before the mother could extinguish the blazing clothing, the girl had been terribly burned about the neck, abdomen, and thighs.

She was removed to the New Castle hospital, where she received treatment for her injuries, but death ended her sufferings, a few hours after she was admitted.

Joy was born October 11, 1943 in New Castle, daughter of Dorsey

FRANKFURT, March 16.—A prominent German psychiatrist recommended today that Mrs. Yvette Madsen, beautiful Brooklyn-born army wife on trial for the murder of her air force husband, be committed to a mental instiution as "a danger to the community."

Frankfurt University Professor Karl Von Kleist resumed giving evidence at the afternoon session of Mrs. Madsen's trial after she interrupted him earlier by crying:

"Don't let him go on! Hang me if you want."

The girl's father, Alfred Noack, rose to his feet and admonished her:

"Shut up!"

A recess was called before Dr. Von Kleist resumed. He said:

School Board Gets Opinion

Liability Cited For Injury To Game Spectators

In the opinion of school board solicitor Robert L. Wallace, the New Castle school district is responsible for injuries to spectators at an athletic event to which admission is charged.

Mr. Wallace gave the board a lengthy opinion Wednesday night in which he cited a recent case in Scranton, showed the difference between the conduct of a school system and the holding of athletic events and concluded by advising the board to take out insurance which would indemnify the district against claims for injuries.

Agent of Commonwealth

He pointed out that in regard to general activities the school district is merely an agent of the state and the sovereign state cannot be sued in trespass for damages.

In the matter of extra-curricular activities, so long as these are limited to those expressly authorized and provided for in the school code they still remain a governmental function and there is no tort liability.

It is in the field of athletic sports where admission is charged that the picture changes, according to Mr. Wallace. He cites a case in Scranton where Judge Linus T. Hoban held that a school district assumes the risk of damages when it conducts athletic activities where large numbers of spectators are attracted and who pay an admission.

Mr. Wallace said the law has not changed in regard to liability of a school district but conditions have changed and that he is of the opinion that the district is responsible for injuries received by spectators which are chargeable to the negligence of the district or defective equipment.

The board will study the opinion and investigate the cost of securing accident insurance on athletic contests.

WARNS, HOWEVER, AGAINST ROUSING OF FALSE HOPES

policy of obstruction in the United Nations. Acheson urged the Soviet leaders to "act as if they believe the United Nations is, as Stalin himself has recently called it, a serious instrumentality for the maintenance of international peace and security." He said "they are simply not acting that way now."

Atomic Energy Control

4. Effective international control of atomic energy. Acheson conceded it is not easy for Russia to agree to inspection rights but declared that "we believe that an authority could be established which would not be controlled or subject to control by either ourselves or the Soviet Union.

5. Agreement by the Kremlin to "refrain from using the Communist apparatus controlled by it throughout the world to attempt to overthrow, by subversive means, established governments with which the Soviet government stands in an outward state of friendship and respect."

6. Proper treatment of diplomatic representatives. Acheson pointed out: "When we now find our representatives treated as criminals, when we see great official propaganda machines reiterating that they are sinister people . . . we cannot be blind to the obvious implications of such an attitude."

7. Agreement by the Kremlin to refrain from "systematically distorting to their own peoples the picture of the world outside their borders, and of our country, in particular."

No Compromise

Acheson made it clear that the United States "can see no compromise" with international Communism. He emphasized that Communism means the police state slave labor, and a denial of fundamental religious truths.

The secretary said it does not follow that Communism and democracy cannot exist concurrently because "good and evil can and do exist concurrently in the whole great realm of human life." He added, however:

"But it also does not follow from this co-existence of good and evil that the two systems, theirs and ours, will necessary be able to exist concurrently.

"That will depend largely on them, for we ourselves do not find impossibility in the prospect of co-existence with the Soviet system."

FIRE CHIEFS OF COUNTY MEET

will be compiled and will be ready for publication in the near future

Warn On Grass Fires

Warning was issued that anyone found starting grass fires in the county which necessitate the calling of the departmen, will be prosecuted according to law. Grass fires form one of the worst nuisances to all departments, both city and county, in the spring and fall season, and with the spring season near at hand, fire police will be on the lookout for the sources of these fires. Those found guilty will have informations made against them.

Residents of the rural sections were also requested to learn the number of their own fire department, and to call them when a fire occurs, instead of calling the city department. This is often the cause of considerable delay in the rural areas. The city department, it is emphasized, will not answer calls to areas which have their own fire departments, unless requested to do so by the proper fire authorities.

Full cooperation by the Chiefs was promised in all matters for the improvement of the fire service in the different sections.

Fire School Discussed

The matter of holding a fire school for instruction of members of the volunteer companies was also discussed, and it is expected to have arrangements completed for this feature in the near future,

The association voted to meet every three months, on the third Monday of the month. Fire Chief Archie Shoup, of the Bessemer department, invited the association to meet in Bessemer at their next session on the third Monday in June.

president of the Council of Europe, implored the king for a quick decision on abdicating in favor of Leopold's son, 19-year-old Prince Baudouin.

In Best Interests

Spaak said such a move would be in the best interests of the monarchy and the dynasty of Belgium.

A three-man delegation of the Liberal party arrived in Geneva to "express the Liberal party's views to the king."

One of the men, Roger Motz, said:

"In my opinion it would be a good thing if the opposition also came."

Franes Van Cauwelaert, president of the Belgian Lower Chamber said:

"No significance should be attached to the duration of our interviews in Geneva. It is natural they may take some time since the king must consult his counsellors.

Denies Abdication Discussion

"We are moving toward a convocation of the two chambers of parliament in order to reach an agreement on the king's legal status."

Belgian Premier Gaston Eyskens denied a report that Van Cauwelaert and Robert Gillon, president of the Senate, came to Geneva to discuss the abdication question with the king.

The final decision on Leopold's return to the throne rests with the Belgian parliament. The monarch has not returned to Belgium since he surrendered his army to the Nazis during the war.

Not Made Public

The announcement by Admiral William M. Fechteler, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, said:

"The formal charges and specifications to be served upon these officers and upon which they will be tried will not be made public prior to the convening of the respective courts.

"The individual officers concerned, however, may release the charges and specifications in their respective cases at thir own discretion."

is $63,656. The increase in the budget total is $64,093.

Tentative Millage

Tentatively the millage is set at twenty mills, the same as it has been for some years. Some accounts show an increase, some a decrease with the net increase shown above.

During the twenty days the budget is upon public display, it can be viewed by any one interested in it. After the twenty-day period of inspection a budget will be adopted, either the one that has been submitted or one with adjustments. The budget committee is made up of Dr. W. Fulton Jackson, chairman, Mrs. Elizabeth Kleckner and Joseph R. Hensley.

CHARGES ADMINISTRATION HAS REVERSED ITSELF

the civil service loyalty appeals board. McCarthy has charged that pro-communists have infiltrated the state department.

Significant Action

Hickenlooper said the order for Service's return to Washington for new loyalty hearings was significant "because the state department denied it all yesterday and then apparently reversed its field."

He said that although Service's complete record should be available to the senators, he did not think ti necessary for the subcommittee to sit in on any loyalty hearings, which are closed affairs.

The investigation of McCarthy's charges cleared its major hurdle when the Wisconsin Republican agreed to turn over to the committee not later than Monday all his evidence on some 81 "cases" involving alleged questionable securtiy risks.

PRESIDENT IS AT KEY WEST

official duties as soon as possible, so that he can relax in the Florida sun.

Among the jobs to be done is the signing of the oleomargine tax repeal bill. Copies of the measure were flown to Key West by courier plane.

Mr. Truman obtained a headstart in getting his sun tan yesterday when the Williamsburg cruised through calm waters off the Florida east coast. The president and members of his staff absorbed all the sun possible from a fantail of the Williamsburg after the weather turned tropical.

The yacht hugged the coast yesterday, running in close enough for the official party, and correspondents aboard the estcorting destroyer William C. Lawe, to watch bathers in the surf at Palm Beach and other coast resorts.

French National Assembly Ratifies Assistance Pact

PARIS, March 16.—(INS)—The French National Assembly ratified today the North Atlantic treaty's mutual assistance pact which will provide one billion dollars worth of military aid to France and other pact nations.

The vote was 416 to 181.

Foreign Minister Robert Schuman undercut Communist opposition to the ratification by accepting a Red-sponsored amendment providing that future modifications be approved by parliament. He said this was in the "tradition of French diplomacy."

Senate debate on the pact, which was signed in Washington Jan. 27, is scheduled to begin tomorrow.

Mrs. Wesley Post was in charge of these decorations.

COLLEGE CLUB HEARS MISS VANTASSEL

Members of the College Club were privileged to hear an absorbing discussion on "Glass—America's First Industry" when they met Tuesday evening in the Nurses' Home, Wilmington avenue.

Miss Marion Campbell introduced the guest speaker of the evening, Miss Valentine VanTassel. Miss VanTassel, recently returned from Europe, gave a history of the development of glass in Europe. She told of the fine glass-making in Italy and Bohemia through formulas handed down within the families of the glass blowers.

Illustrating her topic with representative articles of glassware, Miss VanTassel traced the development of glass-making through Europe. Scarcity of skilled glass blowers retarded glass development here in America and the seventeenth century was known as the Glassless Age. It wasn't until 1820 that inexpensive articles of glassware were being produced for the masses. It was then that glass was pressed out mechanically. A cheap formula known as the "soda and lime formula" was discovered. At the present time through the mechanical press method, 600 to 900 glasses can be produced a minute. More progress in glass-making has been accomplished during the past fifty years than thousands of years before. The making of good glass is still an art.

Preceding the program, members enjoyed a short business meeting with Mrs. Mary Eliabeth Dolan, acting president, in charge.

Chairman of the hostess committee for the evening was Miss Lois Kerr. Members of her committee included Miss Delores Callahan, Miss Clara Hartsuff, Miss Jane Hawkins, Mrs. I. Miller Henley, Mrs. B. MORE SKY BEACONS

Out of the lengthy hearings that followed 1949's worst air disaster at Washington's National Airport came several criticisms of present day commercial air operations. The critics were those most likely to be blamed for an air disaster—the pilots.

The basic complaint seemed to be that a pilot today has too much to watch, and too many handles and levers to work. In a pinch the chances of misinterpreting the maze of dials in the cockpit of a big airliner, or grabbing the wrong handle, are too great. Pilots feel the trend toward over-equipping big planes with instruments and gadgets should be reversed.

The Civil Aeronautics Authority has just let a whopping contract for a new electronic aid for aerial navigation which, it is true, will add another dial to watch. But pilots probably will welcome it. It is a directional measuring device, consisting of a ground unit plus a portable companion unit which will be installed in planes. It automatically checks the distance between plane and a ground reference station, converting an electric signal into miles.

A pilot flying down a conventional beam will thus have a constant distance check on any one of a number of the reference stations located along his course. At present, the CAA reveals, there are 300 of these stations in the country. The new contract will add 450 more. As the portable equipment becomes available it will be installed in commercial and large military planes.

The effect of this new device will be to add another beacon for sky navigation. Gradually the guesswork is being entirely eliminated, and mechanical brains are solving the split second problems that have badgered the men who fly the big transports. Research and development such as this cannot help but pay off in terms of safer flying.

LAST CUSTER SOLDIER

Another tie linking the present to the Wild West—the West of Indian wars, wagon trains and gold rushes—has been severed with the death of Charles A. Windolph at the age of 98 in Lead, S. D. Windolph, oldest holder of the Congressional Medal of Honor, was the last survivor of the Battle of the Little Big Horn in Montana in 1876.

In that fight, ever since referred to as "Custer's Last Stand," Gen. George A. Custer and five companies of the Seventh Cavalry were wiped out and seven companies under Maj. Marcus Reno stood off thousands of Sioux and Cheyenne warriors for two days until reinforcements arrived.

Windolph was in Captain Benteen's H Company under Reno, and was wounded in the battle.

Windolph, promoted to first sergeant on the battlefield on the bluffs of the Little Big Horn, served in the Seventh Cavalry for 12 years, participating in the Custer expedition to the Black Hills in 1874 which discovered gold and resulted in the gold rush of 1876. After leaving the Army he worked for 49 years for the Homestake gold mine in Lead, the largest in the United States.

Windolph not only saw the West at its wildest, he made a real contribution to its settlement. In his passing the curtain is rung down. Not one of the 600 men who rode with Custer to the banks of the little river in Montana remains alive, but their names are inscribed indelibly in the heroic history of the Seventh Cavalry.

FUNDS FOR RAIN-MAKING

If anyone had seriously proposed to city authorities ten years ago that they vote funds for rain-making, the idea would have been rejected as a new low in municipal follies.

Yet just such a proposal has not only been offered to the Board of Estimate in New York City but thousands of dollars have been set aside for the task. Nobody is laughing, or making jokes about hiring a few primitive medicine men in outlandish costumes to woo the rain gods.

New York's need for water, man-made or otherwise, is well known. Shaveless, bathless days have featured the drive to conserve it, while dozens of suggestions for increasing the supply have been put forward. The method on which the city fathers are ready to gamble calls for "seeding" clouds which have moisture, but are reluctant to let it fall.

If this works out, it may solve the water problem, and at the same time set a trend. A few minor improvements in technique and the rain-makers should be able to turn the rain off, as well as on. Then they'll be able to sell their services to Florida, or even California, where they don't have rain, but merely fog that comes down by the bucketful.

There are a million "surplus" women in the U. S. In other words, 250,000 afternoon bridge foursomes too many?

War-wrecked Europe is expecting a record influx of American tourists, loaded with those Yankee dollars. The Old World's ruination may yet prove its salvation!

Game conservation officer found a half-frozen lark near Niagara Falls. There's one bird who, no doubt, hereafter will leave that "first of the season" business to the robins.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

Britain's Cat And Mouse Game

A cat and mouse game with few precedents in modern politics is being played in Great Britain's House of Commons today and from it are emerging definite signs of shrewd Conservative strategy.

The objective sems to be twofold:

First, to remind the Laborite government of Prime Minister Clement Attlee that is lucky to be in office at all.

Second, to convince the electorate that Socialism in Britain has failed and that the whole national structure is endangered by the slim and shaky majority the government commands in Parliament.

It seems evident that Labor must gather up all its strength on every occasion that an issue is put to a vote even though the majority recorded may vary at intervals.

'Skin of the Teeth' Margin

In other words, although one Laborite victory may be more or less satisfying than the one preceding it, the whole procedure must remain a "skin of the teeth" affair until the Conservatives feel they are strong enough to overthrow the government and then appeal to the country in a new general election.

There is no question now that the Tories are lining up for a decisive new test within the next few months.

Insurance companies, the cement and sugar industries and controllers of water power are publishing paid advertisements almost daily extolling the advantages of private enterprise over Nationalization.

The appeal is almost invariably based on the slogan of "good hard dollars."

Insurance companies, for example, which were threatened with what Labor called "mutualization," furnish facts and figures to show that during 1949 they brough almost $100,000,000 into the United Kingdom.

Must Close Dollar Gap

And even the least financially or economics minded Briton knows by this time that so long as the world remains as it is, Great Britain's problems can never be solved until what is known as the "dollar gap" between British disbursements and dollar revenues is closed.

It is apparent from Conservative party tactics that Winston Churchill's greatest hope lies in a conviction on the part of the public that extreme socialization has to be abandoned. He resented very bitterly when Laborites accused him during the election campaigns of "besmirching" British prestige by his constant attacks on alleged government squandring and especially upon Labor's devaluation of the pound sterling.

His closest and most gifted advisers are steering a course that is intended to prove government deficiencies and short-comings. This method, while almost invariably characteristic of American politics, is unusual in England.

There, campaigns usually are fought out on sweeping national or internal issues.

Down to Bookkeeping

In this case, however, the argument has descended almost to the bookkeeping stage.

One vote came because the government—in the speech made by King George VI to open Parliament failed to mention the vexation problem of iron and steel nationalization.

The second came on the basis of a charge that Attlee was not building enough houses to take care of the war's bomb damage and an increasing population.

The third was on the issue of expenditures. The Conservatives accused Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Stafford Cripps of failing to bring about economies that he had promised.

The Conservatives' chief problem has stemmed and will continue to stem from an honest desire to do the best that is possible for the people of Britain—to deprive them of none of the benefits that have accrued from socialism.

At the same time they are pledging themselves to do this more economically. But the Laborites can and do turn to previous Conservative administrations which were lax in such things as reform, housing, medical care and proper working conditions.

The average Briton does not forget the visit paid by the Duke of Windsor to a shoddy coal mine during the regime of Stanley Baldwin and in an outburst of indignation said: "Something will have to be done about this."

It all adds up to a tough job of changing the minds of a people who are traditionally slow to switch their views. Churchill and his party are trading lightly, determined to make no fatal misstep.

Just Folks

INDIVIDUALITY

How strangely runs the life of man,
With differences shown or hidden;
No two alike of all the clan
With manners favored or forbidden!
Each in his own decisive way
Some pleasure taking or refusing;
One holding he would go astray
On paths that other men are choosing.

With difference of mood and whim
To live the years are all created.
One man does what seems best to him,
And for his act is loved or hated.
All other creatures live their days
Alike when eating or when drinking,
But mortals go their separate ways,
Their conduct fashioned by their thinking.

The lion as a lion preys
On other creatures that are weaker,
But to the end a lion stays;
Grows neither fiercer nor meeker.
But man some tempting lure may see,
Chooses to scorn it or to take it;
And as he thinks, his life can be
What he has strength and will to make it.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

IF CHILD FEARS THE DARK

A terrifying fear that may last nobody knows how long can begin in a brief moment. But there is always hope.

"Dear Dr. Myers:

"My son, Patrick, is now nine years old. When he was about four and a half years my brother locked him in a dark basement as punishment for some minor infraction. This was done without my knowledge or consent.

"Since that time Pat has been simply terrified of darkness. He will not walk into a room unless there is a light burning, even with the family in the adjoining room. We have tried to remove this fear but to no avail. We tried getting him to take one step into a dark room and then each night tried to get him to take one additional step farther into the darkened room. This did not work, as after the first two or three steps the abnormal fear returned and even our most gentle persuasion brought tears.

Drastic Measures

"We have been advised to try drastic measures such as placing him forcibly into a darkened room again but my husband says that he is definitely against it. The fear seems to be more of darkened rooms than anything else. He will take a flashlight and go outside by himself provided it is not too dark at night. But he just will not go into a darkened room."

I wrote this mother. I can see what mountains of emotions your parents have built up in yourselves and this boy over the matter. And I could think of nothing more cruel and dangerous to the boy's future mental health and personality than the "drastic measures" proposed to you. Your husband is dead right.

Artificial Light

And why should anybody be bothered about this matter anyway? In this day of abundant artificial light, why should the boy ever have to enter a dark room during all the rest of his life. Presumably he sleeps in a dark room and it's only a matter of his having light to enter the room. Even if he could not be happy to go to sleep in a dark room he could have a dim light on outside his room with the door ajar, and this light could become dimmer and dimmer over a period of several months.

I hope that neither you nor anybody else ever refers to this matter again in your son's presence. It were better not to talk about it to anybody else. It's too unimportant to consider further as a problem. If the boy supposes it is nothing to worry about or be ashamed of he eventually will work it all out to his own satisfaction. Be sure you don't ask him again to enter a dark room. Have electric light buttons so placed that every room of your house can be lighted from outside it.

I hope you and Dad tell the boy you are sorry you made so much out of so small a matter and assure him you will act more sensibly from now on.

I wish parents and older children would be on guard against arousing fears in younger children. My bulletin, "Fears: Their Prevention and Correction," me be had in a stamped envelope sent me at 235 East 45th street, New York, N. Y.

From Me To You

By MESEEALL

Citizens of the United States are beginning to realize that there is something drastically wrong with the thinking of some of their neighbors . . . chiefly the thinking concerning spending of monies . . . Everyone wants to improve his standard of living . . . but no one can afford to raise that standard above his ability to create the necessary financial means to pay his way to that high standard . . . This nation enjoys the finest standard of living that any nation ever enjoyed . . . But all this was accomplished on a sound foundation . . . a foundation that the founders of this nation set forth from the good in other nations' living agreements . . . therefore the good people of this nation are beginning to realize that there are people among us who would like to destroy that solid foundation that has given us such a pleasant life . . . And the thinking people are beginning to act . . . action is needed . . . time for just plain talk is past . . . The men who run our government in Washington must be made to realize that the United States Government is a servant of the people . . . Not as they (administration big wigs) are trying to make it . . . that the people serve the government. If that is accomplished in full (a big toe hold is already accomplished) we will have lost all our freedoms.

Abraham Lincoln said . . . "You cannot bring about prosperity by discouraging thrift. You cannot strengthen the weak by weakening the strong. You cannot help the wage earner by pulling down the wage payer. You cannot further the brotherhood of man by encouraging class hatred. You cannot help the poor by destroying the rich. You cannot establish sound security on borrowed money. You cannot keep out of trouble by spending more than you earn. You cannot build character and courage by taking away man's initiative and independence. You cannot help men permanently by doing for them what they could and should do for themselves.

Words of such leaders are sound . . . and should be carried in the minds of all good Americans at all times . . . We must have action now.

SHELL GAME?

Washington Calling

(By Marquis Childs)

Define Senatorial Responsibility

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Under the glow of the television lights Senator McCarthy is beginning to look pale and a little flustered. The material he is offering as evidence of his charges is so very thin that even he himself seems to lack confidence in it.

His strategy is to spread it out for as long as possible so that it will reap the largest harvest of headlines. It probably contributes to the campaign to remove Dean Acheson from the office of secretary of state. And certainly it contributes to the uncertainty, the fear and the suspicion that undermine the hopes of a positive, constructive American foreign policy both at home and abroad.

But, in my opinion, that is not the greatest disservice McCarthy is performing. What he is doing that is most dangerous and most reckless is to extend and confirm the technique of the indictment by association and smear.

How Process Works

You don't have to watch the process very long to understand what it is. It is the technique of revolutionary tribunal, those fantastic mock courts that came into being in the holocaust of the French revolution. It bears some relation to the methods of the purge trials in Soviet Russia. The whole approach could hardly be more directly at variance with the Anglo-Saxon concept of equal justice under law that has slowly and painfully evolved through the centuries.

Re-reading Charles Dickens' thrilling novel, "A Tale of Two Cities", you get some idea of what those revolutionary tribunals were like. Victims by the thousands were hauled before so-called courts. If it could be shown in any remote way that the individual had had contact with any aristocrat for whatever reason, the clamor for his blood went up and he was carted off to the guillotine.

Whether this ten-cent store Robespierre from Wisconsin knows it or not, what he is helping to do is break down law and order. The senator can reply, of course, with the easy and cynical good humor that is natural to him that his victims are, after all, not guillotined.

Smear Can Destroy

But the smear can destroy, too. Denials rarely catch up with the original accusation. They are usually found back among the want ads while the charge itself has blossomed in big headlines on page 1. Few victims have the aggressiveness, the spunk and the resources of Judge Dorothy Kenyon.

The investigating committee itself has a lot to answer for. The method of procedure should have been carefully mapped out before any evidence was presented. It is difficult to see why Chairman Millard Tydings should at the outset have given McCarthy his choice of presenting the charges in public or in closed session since this opened the way for public accusation with the accuser hiding under the cloak of legal immunity.

A precedent existed for orderly procedure. That was in the inquiry conducted by the joint senate-house atomic energy committee into the charges brought by Senator Hickenlooper of Iowa.

Hickenlooper had a list of 27 employees of the Atomic Energy Commission whom he considered in the doubtful category. The names of those individuals were not spread across the front pages. Under Chairman Brien McMahon they were thoroughly reviewed in closed session.

Long before the last case was reached, it was apparent to virtually all committee members that the charges raised were insubstantial. Attendance at the closed sessions fell away to the chairman and one or two others.

Elemental Justice

But the important point is that reputations were not subjected to lynch law. Elemental justice was observed. If at any time the atomic committee had agreed that an individual case warranted a public hearing, then the hearing would have been held. There was no inclination to keep back information to which the public was entitled.

It was too much to expect that McCarthy himself would show a sense of responsibility. Virtually all the material he has produced thus far has come out of the files of other investigating committees, including the notoriously irresponsible California un-American activities committee. Or it is read out of newspapers and magazines.

This seems to me to call for something more than a mere political exchange between Republicans and Democrats. The senate, under the constitution, has the power to make its own rules of conduct and to compel its members to live up to those rules. This would be a good time to try to define senatorial responsibility by a new rule.

One Man's Opinion

One theory about the flying saucers is that they are sent by people on other planets curious enough to look at our world but not stupid enough to land on it.

Increase in the number of saucers sighted is no indication of weakness in the temperance movement. . . . Some have been seen over dry states.

At the last count the flying saucers were leading the air force by four groups at no apparent expense to the taxpayers.

And there's one vacationer at Key West wishes he had commandeered a saucer instead of a tub.

I won't say Mr. Truman was displeased with the Williamsburg but he has three secretaries out pricing moth balls.

And the rumor is that the next time Harry goes to sea it will be on the Missouri in Hampton Roads.

But there's one thing about the Williamsburg. . . . They say when she's in drydock you can hardly feel her roll.

PROTEIN AND PEP

Everybody seems to want to have lots of pep.

The youngsters use it. The oldsters may not use it but they want it just the same.

Vitamins get all the glory nowadays. Perhaps the profit motive has something to do with it.

Protein helps to make pep.

Meat and cheese are strong on protein. Grandma says that cheese is cheaper and also easier to chew.

Old people need lots of protein. It helps to keep from getting tired.

It does not make much difference what kind of cheese.

Perhaps a good way is to pick out the kind that tastes best and eat as much as possible.

Cheese it. Grandpa.

After French Title

(By HENRY McLEMORE)

I have just finished writing what I trust is a most ingratiating letter to a gentlemen I have never seen, but whom I hope soon to be calling Papa.

The letter was prompted by this advertisement in the Personals column of the Saturday Review of Literature:

"Who would like a fine old French title? An elderly count in France will legally adopt an American and transmit the title in return for financial aid."

Unbeknownst to my wife and creditors, for years I have had a secret savings account to which I have faithfully added a dime a week. The mason jar is about full now and I can think of no better way to spend my hoard than to bring the first title into the McLemore family. Up until the time I read the Count's offer I had planned to use the money as a down payment on a producing oil well which would provide for Jean and me in our old age.

Crazy About Being Countess

But Jean is just as crazy about the thought of being a countess as I am about being a count, and even forked over the money for air mail, special delivery stamps. She has already started sewing trains on all her dresses and stoutly refuses to let me eat dinner in my shirt sleeves any more.

As for myself, I haven't been idle. I have already painted "Count" in white paint on the side of my car and am just waiting to find out what the old man's name is to put that on, too. For, of course, once he adopts me I'll have to take his name, and we're hoping it will be a fancy one, something like Count de Eiffel Tower, or County de Folies Bergere, or County Pol Roget 1929. If it turns out that he is named Count Joe Smith or Count Spike Brown, I am going to ask for a substantial discount.

I'll be in Europe shortly and plan to make a bee-line for the count's castle he'd better have one, too!—and make myself known to him. It should be quite a touching scene.

I intend to kiss him on both cheeks and say, "Bon jour, mon cher pere."

After that I'll be stumped and will have to turn to my handy French-English dictionary while he stands back and gazes fondly on his newly-adopted son. Already I can hear him exclaim in exquisite French:

What A Lucky Old Count

"Land sake, what a lucky old count I am to get this handsome broth of a boy to carry on my illustrious name."

Then we'll toast our new association in his champagne and then call in some celebrated French shyster to draw up the papers. After that I'll empty my mason jar in his lap and propose a brisk, 20-mile hike with full field pack and rifle. You see, I won't get the title until the old count is done for, so I must starting wearing him down immediately.

The more I think about it, the more I can't wait to become a count. Think of the tone it will add to our house for Jean to be able to tell visitors that the Count is out on his newspaper route but will be back in a few hours.

And boy, what a thrill to be able to put an authentic crest on everything from my bicycle clips to a vacuum cleaner.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

A few evenings ago a truck, driving through one of New York City's crowded melting-pot sections, skidded on the icy pavement and ran over a boy who was playing in the street.

Both of the youngster's legs were crushed. He was unconscious. It was evident that he did not have long to live.

Out of the crowd came a priest. He kneeled down by the boy's side and prayed. The boy was a Jewish boy.

The truck driver, tears streaming from his eyes, had stopped his vehicle and he, too, kneeled by the boy's stricken form and prayed. The driver, as I later found out was a Protestant.

As usual in New York, before the ambulance had time to arrive, thousands had rushed into the block where the accident had happened.

It was only with the help of two husky policemen that the grief-stricken mother could make her way to her son's side.

Tenderly she took her son's head into her arms and prayed to God—in Yiddish.

Then the ambulance came. The boy was taken to the hospital where he is now confined.

The doctors are hopeful that he will live, although he may be crippled for the rest of his life.

However, perhaps their skill and the combined prayers of Catholics, Protestants and Hebrews will make him whole again.

Not much of a story in these days of world-shaking events.

Yet in it may lie the answer to so many unanswered questions we ask ourselves.

In it may also lie the answer to the hundreds who have written me and asked why there must be so much dissension in religion.

There is no dissension in RELIGION.

The dissension is among the CHURCHES.

Whenever there is a disaster, whenever man's weak ego cries out for God's help—man knows only one God,—the God of his Soul.

When God is needed instantly nobody asks those who need help whether they are Catholic, Protestant or Jewish.

That priest, that truckdriver, that mother, although each belonging to a different church, did not pray to different Gods. They prayed to the same God.

How many gods do you sticklers for method think there are?

Do you, who believe that only in YOUR faith lies salvation, dare to say that those who don't share it are heathens?

You may as well say that unless you pray to God dressed in a certain costume, He will not hear you.

You may as well insist that Heaven is reserved entirely for your own clique.

I, for one, deny that the very cleavages that divide man on this earth are God-made, I believe that man's soul cries out for unity, and I call upon the Churches to set the example.

Mary Miles Minteer was a screen star of the 1920's—a blond "sweetheart" of the silent movie days. She was born at Shreveport, La., April 1, 1902. As a child actress she appeared in support of Nat Goodwin, Minnie Maddern Fiske, Bertha Kalich and Dustin Farnum for four years, then appeared in the title role of The Littlest Rebel. She began a screen career in Anne of Green Gables, followed by Judy of Rogue's Harbor, Sweet Lavender, All Souls Eve, Moonlight and Honeysuckle, Jerry, Little Crown, The Trail of the Lonesome Pine.

Ponce de Leon, explorer and discoverer was born circa 1460, in Servas, Spain. He took part in the Moorish wars, then sailed for America with Christopher Columbus on the great admiral's second voyage. In 1509 he seized Porto Rico and was appointed governor. As soon as the island was under control and pacified, he set out with three ships to search for the land "Bimini," wherein, the Indian legend told him, was the fabulous Fountain of Youth. On March 27, 1513, Easter Sunday, he discovered the mainland of Florida. He landed near the present site of St. Augustine, taking possession in the name of the Spanish king. Returning to Spain, he was appointed governor of the "Island of Florida," but the savage antagonism of the Indians prevented his taking possession and in a fierce engagement, he was fatally wounded. He died in Cuba in June, 1521.

A pension and insurance agreement between the National Radiator company and United Steelworkers of America, CIO, has been reached, it was announced today.

The pension agreement signed last February 8 is effective March 1, and is contingent upon the approval of the stockholders.

The pension plan is in line with the basic steel agreement, which provides $100 minimum to those of 65 years of age, having 25 years of service; and permanent disability pensions given to those having 15 years of service and over.

In addition to the pension agreement, an insurance program has been negotiated with the company, effective since February 27, covering hourly-rated shop employes in the bargaining unit.

The insurance plan is covered by the Travelers Insurance company and includes life insurance, non-occupational accidents, sick benefits, surgical benefits for employes and their dependents, up to 19 years of age.

The Blue Cross Association covers the non-occupation hospitalization benefits for employes and their dependents under 19 years of age; semi-private accommodations and 70-day coverage for each disability.

The agreement between the company and union was reached in sessions conducted at the William Penn hotel, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Representing the National Radiator company was B. T. Hain, vice president for manufacturing; Representative Daniel W. Skelly, USA, CIO; and Frank Clinefelter, president of Local 1284, of National Radiator company.

PAUL TELLS WHY HE IS A CHRISTIAN

EPLAINS FAITH THAT SUSTAINED THE CHURCH

Scripture—Acts 21:7, 26:32; Romans 5:1-8; Hebrews 12:1-3; I John 1.

Paul before Agrippa.

"I know Him whom I have believed, and I am persuaded that He is able to guard that which I have committed unto Him against that day."—II Timothy 1:12.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

In this lesson of St. Paul's fight for his life and liberty in ancient times, we are reminded of those who have been persecuted for their faith in our own time—Pastor Niemoeller by the Nazis, Cardinal Mindszenty in Hungary, and many others threatened or imprisoned.

Paul had completed his three missionary journeys and converted thousands. He insisted that he must go to Jerusalem, although he had been warned of the dangers that awaited him.

At Caesarea, on his way to the holy city, at the house of Philip, the evangelist, a certain prophet, Agabus, took Paul's girdle and bound his own feet and hands with it. Thus, he said, would Paul be if he persisted in going to Jerusalem. Paul would not be dissuaded, however, saying, "The will of the Lord be done."

Carrying alms to the brethren (who received him gladly), Paul arrived in Jerusalem. Purifying himself, he went into the temple, but when certain Jews from Asia saw him they cried out that he was the man who was teaching everywhere against the law, and polluting the holy place.

They dragged him out of the temple, beat him, and would certainly have killed him, but the Roman captain, from his tower, saw the commotion, and calling his soldiers he charged the crowd and rescued the apostle, carrying him in chains to the castle.

On the steps of the castle Paul paused and adressed the crowd.

He insisted that the charge was false; that he was a Jew and a believer in the Jewish law.

The crowd listened to what he had to say, then shouted, "Away with such a fellow from the earth: for it is not fit that he should live."

The chief captain decided that Paul should be scourged—a form of torture—to make him confess. He, however, said to a centurion who stood by, "It it lawful for you to scourge a man that is a Roman, and uncondemned?"

That gave them pause. The centurion told the captain Paul was a Roman, and the captain not only loosed him from his bonds but was to him.

Next morning Paul was set beafraid of what he had already done fore the temple council and Ananias, chief priest who had participated in the condemnation of Christ. He noticed that some of his accusers were Pharisees and some Sadducees, bitter rivals because the Pharisees believed in resurrection and the Sadducees did not.

He was a Pharisee, Paul said. He had persecuted Christians unmercifully before his conversion. This speech started a fierce discussion between the two sects—the Pharisees declaring that they found no evil in Paul.

The arguments were so violent that the Roman soldiers were afraid Paul would be torn to pieces and so rescued him.

Now the Jews vowed they would yet kill him, and they bound themselves with an oath that they would lie in wait for him if he was brought again before the council and slay him.

Paul's sister's son, however, heard them plotting, and went to the castle and told Paul, who sent him by a centurion to the captain. That worthy called for 200 soldiers, three-score and ten horsemen and 200 spearmen to escort Paul to Caesarea, a Roman city, where he could be tried.

Felix was ruler of Caesarea and Paul was brought before him. Felix kept him prisoner for two years, and if he had been able to raise a ransom he would have set him at liberty.

After Felix's death, came Festus, who heard the Jews accuse Paul of many things, which Paul denied, saying, "Neither against the law of the Jews, neither against the temple, nor yet against Caesar, have I offended anything at all."

He was not afraid to die, he stated, but he appealed to Caesar—who at this time was Nero.

King Agrippa—last of the Herods—came to visit Festus, and after the latter's account of Paul's case, Agrippa wanted to talk to the apostle. Next day he was brought before the king, and told him of his former hatred of the Christians and persecution of them, and of his experience on the Damascan road. After listening to him, the king said, "Almost thous persuadest me to be a Christian."

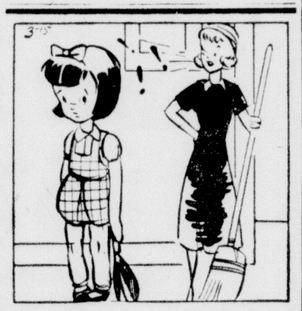
THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE



IT'S WHAT YOU DO, NOT WHAT YOU SAY

"For heaven's sake, stop fussing about having to do that little bit of dusting! snapped Mrs. Ormand at her reluctant 10-year-old. "There's not enough there to bother anyone. I can't see why you can't help a little without complaining all the time."

True enough. It would seem reasonable for Mrs. O. to expect help without complaint. Yet, she, herself, had been setting the pattern for her youngster for a long, long time. It was: "Housework gets me down." "I don't see why I should have to slave in the house all the time!" "Look how hard I have to work and what do I have to show for it?

If a youngster sees and hears dissatisfaction connected with household work, it will be just as natural for him to take on a complaining tone when he's helping as it is to put on an apron when he's washing the dishes. He has learned through experience that "crabbing" is part of the job.

If one can arrange the household tasks so that they can at least be a bit of fun and if one can sincerely be cheerful as one goes about the work, the chances are very good that youngsters will carry on their jobs in the same way.

Mercer County Youth Speaker

European Visit Is Related To Kiwanis

William Lefes, of Mercer county, Thiel college student, who was one of the youths chosen to represent the state of Pennsylvania in a International Farm Youth Exchange, told New Castle Kiwanis club members of his experiences on Swiss farms during his visit abroad as a member of this group.

There were 31 students in the group, half of whom were girls, and they lived on the farms and worked along with the people with whom they stayed.

Lefes lived on three different farms in Switzerland during his stay abroad but visited many others in the immediate area where he was assigned.

Swiss Are Thrifty

He found the Swiss people most thrifty, he stated, wasting very little. Much of their farm effort was done under the cooperative plan. The farms are mostly in mountainous areas and average around 13 acres in size. The Swiss farmer raises and eats a great amount of potatoes. They had meat on an average of three times a week, he stated.

The women work just as hard as the men and seem to be able to stand up under it pretty well.

They eat five meals a day, potatoes, bread and coffee forming the basis of almost all meals. He worked on a dairy farm near Berne, he stated, and the bulk of the milk produced went to a cooperative creamery, where it was turned into cheese.

Their farms are well fertilized and produce more per acre than American farms, Lefes stated. He saw clover cut five times a year.

Soil erosion is practically unknown, the Swiss farmers practicing rotation farming to a high stage of perfection, he stated. With land selling at $1,000 per acre, they cannot afford to let it wash down the river. He stated that the Mississippi valley is pointed out as an example of erosion waste in Swiss agriculture schools.

Three new members were received into the club and were inducted by members of the ducation committe. They were District Attorney Sherman K. Levine, Assistant District Attorney John A. Powers and Herbert ones. They, with Lieut. Thomas W. Mack, were also presented with their badges to be worn at each meeting.

OUTDOOR RAMBLES with N. R. CASILLO

PLANT A TREE

A year or so ago I took a kind of a pilgrimage, a trip back home to visit the scenes of my youth. A couple of boyhood pals who had settled down and made good in the old home town, accompanied me to various spots throughout the district.

Among the places visited was the old swimming hole on the Ashuelot river. As we stood on the grassy bank overlooking the clear water and sandy bottom of what we familiarly called the Wade Across, a flood of memories suffused me.

My reverie was broken when Charley asked, "Do you remember that tree?" He pointed to a fine sliver maple overhanging the pellucid water.

My mind raced back more years than I like to admit. Frankly, I was puzzled. "No, I don't," I finally admitted.

"Surely, you must remember it," insisted Hal with a grin. When my puzzled look deepened, he added, "Aw, how can you forget a tree you planted?"

It hit me with a bang. "You mean that that is the little finger-thick sapling we rescued from the water's edge?" I faltered unbelievingly.

My companions nodded. "Yep, that's it," said Charley.

It was difficult to believe that the sturdy tree with its two-foot trunk was the waist-high sapling that had started life too close to the river's edge for its own safety. Of course, I remembered taking a hand in moving it back out of harm's way.

The foregoing was recalled when a friend recently told me that his ambition is to plant a tree in the backyard of every home in the nearby village where he lives. Indeed, he is even now completing plans to set out the seeds. When the trees reach a suitable size he will transplant them to the designated sites. Who knows but what they will grow for scores of years or even for centuries. A living memorial for a thoughtful person.

We can't all bequeath libraries and hospitals or even stone monuments. But, a tree—well, even the poorest of us can afford to plant a tree. True, "only God can make a tree," but any one can take a hand in planting it, and perpetuating God's handiwork should in itself be an inducement.

BYWAYS

The golden hamster, a little rodent which has lately become very popular, produces young 16 to 18 days after mating. Obnoxious fish such as carp or useless ones like stunted perch may be eliminated from a pond or lake by poisoning. The effects of the poison wear off in a few days so that the stocking of desirable fish may be undertaken. Steps are now underway to repeal the state law prohibiting the practice. So far this year, parcel post carrier Vic McGee has caught 38 black suckers. One of his favorite spots is at the Volant dam. Incidentally, don't forget that all fishing in trout streams is closed until the opening of trout season at 5 a. m. April 15.

Next week's RAMBLES will discuss the construction and maintenance of small ponds.

Without Painful Backache

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Veterans On Relief To Receive Bonus

HARRISBURG, March 16.—(INS)—Veterans on relief are in line today for bonus payments which they will receive without surrendering indigent aid.

The three-weeks-long dispute ended yesterday with Attorney General T. McKeen Chidley's announcement that the justice department and the Federal Security Administration had worked out a solution to the knotty problem.

Briefly, the FSA will not consider bonus payments as a "resource" on the ground that they will be non-recurring and will be in appreciation for heroic or meritorious services.

The FSA threatened to withhold $54,000,000 a year in federal funds if the state gave indigent veterans bonuses without removing them from relief rolls.

Seek To Save State Funds

Relief Officials Tighten Purse Strings To Save

HARRISBURG, March 16.—(INS)—Relief officials today tightened purse strings to effect an $11,700,000 saving on food and clothing allowances among indigent Pennsylvanians during the remaining 13 months of the 1949-51 biennium.

Secretary of public assistance Frank A. Robbins said the cut, to be reflected in checks for the last half of April, will amount to an average of $2 a person.

The state's share of the reduction, ordered on the basis of decline in living costs reported in federal bureau of labor statistics, will amount to approximately $7,800,000 while the federal government will benefit from the balance.

During 1949, Robbins said, food costs dropped seven per cent and clothing six per cent.

Deputy secretary Robert P. Wray said the saving may preclude the need for asking the General Assembly in 1951 for a deficiency appropriation to prevent a breakdown in the relief program during the closing months of the biennium which ends May 31, 1951.

The reduction was ordered by the DPA's policy-making state board of public assistance.

Outlook Uncertain

Wray pointed out that while the outlook for the closing months is shrouded in uncertainty, relief officials expect the end of the soft coal strike coupled with the seasonal rise in employment to effect a drop in the state's relief burden.

Monthly expenditures now amount to more than $13,500,000 with the federal government contributing about 31 per cent of the total.

Robbins emphasized that the federal labor bureau's figures prompted the reduction.

"During the last eight years monthly allowances have been increased eight times, and clothing allowances were increased three times, amounting to a total of approximately $13 per person," Robbins reported.

Robbins acknowledged an increase of about 10 per cent in rent costs during 1949, but said that the board has delayed action in that regard "in view of the heavy drain on funds during the last several months."

"The board postponed action until it can be determined whether economic prosperity during the summer months will bring a decrease in the assistance rolls and mean a saving in funds that can then be made available to meet increased rentals," he said.

Three Fourths Of Price Support Loss Blamed On Potatoes

WASHINGTON, March 16.—(INS)—A potato-growing senator declared today that three-fourth of the nation's 400 million dollar farm price support losses can be blamed on potatoes.

Sen. Ellender (D) La., chairman of a Senate Agriculture Subcommittee that tackles legislation for compulsory marketing quotas, today declared that potato support losses since 1936 have amounted to $186 an acre on the 1.2 million acres of "commercial" potato land.

Meanwhile, a conference compromise on legislation liberalizing cotton and peanut allotments but tightening up on potatoes goes to the House for expected approval.

Reportedly Approved

Reportedly approved by House-Senate conferees, over the objection of Rep. Hope (R) Kan., and Sens. Young (R) N.D., and Aiken (R) Vt., the measure retains Senate-added restrictions on potato supports and knocks out the Senate provision adding a million or so acres of wheat, principally in dust-bowl areas.

It fixes cotton acreage allotments at 65 percent of the grower's average for 1946, 1947 and 1948, or 45 percent of the highest acreage in any one of the three years, whichever is largest.

Hope reportedly attempted to add 800,000 acres of wheat to the present allotment.

Young and Aiken opposed the Senate-passed potato provisions, which ban supports in 1951 unless marketing quotas are compulsory.

The mite referred to in the Bible was a Jewish coin worth about one-eighth of a cent.

Men's Fashions To Have Own New Look

LONDON—(INS)—Spring fashions will not be a feminine monopoly this year.

British tailors are preparing a new look for males but without the leg and shoulder revealing "sensations" featured in the Paris and London collections for women.

British fashion expert John Taylor indicated that the fashionable gentlemen of 1950 will have a waist—despite the fact that their wives and sweethearts are beginning to lose theirs again in the 1920 look.

Trousers will be narrower, jackets skirted at the hips, and the American "shawl" collar will be the feature of the dinner jacket.

Squared shoulders and exaggerated drape are definitely out. Men's spring fashions will be "a la naturelle" and allow men to drop the impression that they are posing for adventisements for muscle-building gadgets.

Taylor calls all this the Edwardian look—a return to grandpa's hey-day—with fancy and colored waistcoats.

Body Radar May Effect Human Relationships

By MARVIN L. STONE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

VIENNA, March 16.—If beautiful blondes run away at your approach; if dogs growl at you without explanation . . . cheer up, maybe it's not your face after all.

Might be your vibrations, or "body radar."

That is the theory put forward today by Austrian psychologist Dr. Hubert Rohracher, who says the human body sends out minute vibrations that, for good or ill, affect all our daily lives.

Futuristic Idea

"At some future date," said Dr. Rohracher, who has written tomes on the subject, "man may have to memorize his 'vibration quota' just as he now mentally jots down his shoe size, blood group, or pulse beat."

Admittedly, the 47-year-old psychologist told International News Service, "This is rather futuristic, but it may be the eventual result of research now under way."

Tests already undertaken, Dr. Rohracher said, "have established the fact that there can be no mistake as to the existence of body vibrations." He went on:

"The existence of such vibrations leads to a number of hypotheses which may look fantastic at first sight, but which are very plausible.

"It is very likely that the vibrations emanated by man, and relayed to the air that surrounds him, play an important role in creating sympathy or antipathy between two persons, depending on whether their vibrations correspond or do not correspond.

Mass Hysteria

"It also can readily be assumed that the body vibrations are responsible for the relaying of pitched-up emotions from one person to another, which thus may explain the hysteria of mass meetings."

Dr. Rohracher said it is also possible that the mysterious ability of blind persons to "feel" an obstacle before they actually touch it may be caused by the reflection of their own "vibration radar."

"From a physical point of view," he stated, "the process is nothing but vibrations of sound whose frequency is so low the human ear cannot hear it. Animals, however, can probably hear the vibrations emanated by humans as a very low sound. This may explain the astounding scent of some animals. He said:

"The vibrations, which are very minute, can be neither seen nor felt.

Frequency Varies

"Their frequency varies from person to person at seven to 18 cycles per second. There is no typical difference of the vibrations between men, women or children, except that their constancy varies from person to person."

Which seems to mean that if you are having trouble in your personal relations—with blondes or dogs, among others—you may just be operating on the wrong frequency.

Hypochondriacs To Receive Treatment

BOULDER, Colo.—(INS)—How strong is the imagination? Strong enough, doctors believe, to send many people to an early grave.

The hypochondriac, however, is usually more of a nuisance to others than he is a danger to anyone, including himself.

The medical profession has long known what a nuisance the people are who become infatuated with imaginary aches and pains. They waste their own and the doctor's time. They spend a lot of money unnecessarily on doctors bills and pink pills.

John Morgan Lyon, professor of psychiatry at the Colorado University psychopathic hospital, decided something should be done. He noted the university medical center was afflicted with about 200 perennial pests—hypochrondriacs.

He decided to set up a special clinic and staff it with student trainees from the psychopathic hospital. Now hypochondriacs are channeled to the clinic from all over the medical center.

They are given regular appointments and treated with the utmost courtesy. The trainees listen patiently to the patient's troubles. After several such conferences the patient is usually "cured."

BUSY RIVER

DETROIT (SF)—More freight tonnage is handled annually on the Detroit river than in the great maritime harbor of New York City.

Record Production Of Milk In State

HARRISBURG, March 16.—(INS)—A record high milk production for February—477,000,000 pounds—today was recorded for Pennsylvania farmers by the State Department of Agriculture.

Federal-state reports show February milk production topping previous February, by nine per cent. Production fell four per cent short of January because of the 28-day month.

The department's report for wheat farmers were not so bright. Some freeze damage to winter grains and meadows was caused by absence of a protective blanket of snow in southern and central Pennsylvania during the recent cold weather.

Surveys reveal that reports of damage to winter wheat and new grains and legume seedings by alternative freezing and thawing are becoming more numerous. Overall damage appears to be moderate with late planted wheat suffering most.

Richard E. Hanna In Mediterranean

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, March 16. — Jo Stafford, who happens to be a redhead herself, predicted today that 1950 will go down in history as the golden girl renaissance.

The blonde-craze, said songstress Stafford, is sweeping the nation.

She cited the fact that Walt Disney portrayed Cinderella as a blonde in his latest flicker, "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" has been revived with a bang as a Broadway musical, and the peroxide business is booming.

Nice Chasing

Even the Marx Brothers, who hadn't chased a blonde in the movies for years, have popped up with a new picture, "Love Happy," in which Harpo runs blonde Ilona Massey all over the landscape.

Miss Stafford currently is singing "Diamonds Are a Girl's Best Friend" over two network radio programs. She is convinced that the ditty will become theme music for 1950 in musical history books.

"Diamonds" is the hit tune of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes." Miss Stafford recently recorded it, march-style, with a musical midget in wooden slippers running up and down a xylophone.

Miss Stafford believes that Hollywood, like the rest of Uncle Sugar Able, is reverting to 1930, when Jean Harlow made the platinum blonde a national instuatation.

The titan-tressed thrush added: "Ever since Helen of Troy caught her boy, blondes have had an inside track in the romance department. Many gals I know already have become bottle blondes. And a lot of others are getting ready to switch."

Jo recently changed her network affiliation but she denied any plans to convert the color of her cranium-covering from red to blonde.

"I sing about blondes, but I don't want to be one," she confided.

GOODBYE BROADWAY

A couple of weeks ago, Mercedes McCambridge was merely "browsing around" in Hollywood.

Today she is an odds-on-favorite to cop an academy award "Oscar" for her sterling supporting performance in "All the King's Men." It was her initial stint on the screen.

"Now it looks as though I am in Hollywood to stay," said movietown's latest sensation. "A wife should always be with her husband, shouldn't she?"

Married Recently

She and Fletcher Merkle, a radio and film producer, were married recently in a surprise elopment.

Mercedes said: "I had really planned on only one picture. Then I was going back to New York and go on with my stage and radio work.

"My husband can't possibly leave Hollywood. So I'm sending for my son (by another marriage) to live here with us. Besides I have a wonderful role in "Lightning Strikes Twice" at Warners. And with two other pictures already lined up, I guess it's goodbye forever to Gotham."

Marines To Wear Green Friday

The United States Marines will be "wearin' the Green" come St. Patrick's Day, March 17, it is announced by Col K. K. Chappell, in charge of Marine recruiting in the northeastern states.

Col. Chappell has issued an order making "greens" the uniform of the day March 17.

New Agreement By City And Schools On Wage Tax Collection

After voiding a previous contract with the City of New Castle for the sharing of the expenses of the Office of Receiver of Taxes, the New Castle school board on Wednesday night agreed to a new contract.

The new contract as prosposed by the board shows a credit for moneys collected by the city for the collection of wage taxes from non-residents working in New Castle.

Under the old contract the board agreed to pay half the expenses of the office management. Under the arrangement with the townships, the city will collect the wage tax for those townships which assess it for themselves.

The school board feels that inasmuch as it will not receive any benefit from the money charged the townships for collection, the board should not be charged for the work of collecting this money.

Board Solicitor Robert L. Wallace suggested that the money paid the city by the townships be deducted from the expense of the office and the net be divided equally between the city and school district.

Grading Plans Are Prepared

To Be Submitted To Council Monday

When council meets Monday, Municipal Engineer John Z. Street, will submit plans and specifications for the grading and construction of a sanitary sewer in Gretchen and Wooley avenues, a distance of 250 feet.

Mooney Bros., are reportedly preparing to develop a section of Warren avenue between Stanton avenue and Cascade street. An ordinance is to be introduced calling for the ordaining, grading and installing of a sanitary sewer in the section. Bids will be asked by council within the near future.

Would Cost Million Dollars

According to City Engineer John Z. Street, it would require approximately one million dollars to put sanitary and storm sewers here in the condition they should be. In order to perform such a job, a bond issue would be necessary. However, there is no proposal to do this immediately. There is no storm sewer between East Washington and Grant streets, excepting for one block, north of East Washington street, which is one reason for the deluge of water following every heavy storm in the downtown district.

Developing 'Basin' Plan

Some catch-basins in New Castle are sufficiently large to allow a small child to fall, or creep into the aperture, hence it is anticipated by the city engineer that employes will begin work either screening the large openings, or repairing them this year.

Schedule Picnic Of Steelworkers

Announcement was made today that the third annual picnic of District 21, of United Steelworkers of America, CIO, has been scheduled for Sunday, September 10, at Conneaut Lake Park.

An elaborate program will soon get under way for this all-day event, and will be worked out by the executive committees.

Included on the various committees of arrangements are local persons: Representative Daniel W. Skelly of United Steelworkers of America, CIO; Russell Powell, of the Shenango Pottery Local 3125, and Albert Marino, of the National Radiator company Local 1284.

Plan Experiment In Rain Making To Aid N. Y. Water Supply

NEW YORK, March 16.—(INS)—So he took the $50,000 and . . .

Well, said Harvard meteorologist Wallace E. Howell today, maybe he'll make some rain over the New York watershed—and maybe he will make it next week.

The $50,000 was appropriated by the New York City board of estimate yesterday to finance a scientific rain-making experiment under the direction of Dr. Howell. The project is the first such experiment by any city in the world to bolster its water reserves.

It is the city's hope that by giving mother nature a nudge in the rain-making department whenever possible, additional rains can be brought down on the watershed to help fill New York's water-short reservoirs.

Planes To Be Used

Dr. Howell said police amphibious planes will be used in the cloud-seeding he plans in the attempt to get more rain. The planes will drop pellets of dry ice and silver iodide smoke ejectors into cloud formations — and idea is the clouds then may be induced to spill their moisture over the watershed "target".

The Sard meteorologist pointed out that no one can actually "make" rain where there isn't any—but he said that where there are moisture-carrying clouds, science can take steps to shake the rain loose.

Dr. Howell said he cannot make any definite promises as yet, but does feel that the program might bring some extra rain as early as next week.

Gibbs Tells His Story At Trial For Girl's Death

By ED HAUCK
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LANCASTER, Pa., March 16—Edward L. Gibbs, 25-year-old college senior, testified at his murder trial Wednesday that "something happened inside me" which forced him to kill Marian Louise Baker.

Gibbs, charged with the bludgeoning of the pretty Franklin and Marshall college secretary, took the stand as the first defense witness.

Gibbs told the hushed courtroom of the events leading up to the lover's lane slaying of Miss Baker.

He described the ride they took in his car after he met her in Lancaster and denied that he intended to harm the girl.

But at the murder scene, Gibbs testified, "something happened inside me—I don't know what." He added:

"I just reached over and grabbed her and she screamed and got out of the car.

"Of the next part, I'm not certain. The next thing I absolutely knew, I was standing over her with blood on my hands.

"After seeing what happened, I went over to a pump and washed the blood off my hands."

Denies Attempt To Assault

Gibbs denied he attempted to assault Miss Baker and also repudiated a commonwealth statement by State Police Corp. James E. Kane claiming the student admitted the secretary was "hard to kill."

Gibbs said that his first thought was to make a confession, but changed his mind, explaining:

"Self preservation is a big instinct in anyone."

He then related that he had tried to pick the body up and drag it to a garbage pile, and then returned to the college.

In his statement to the jury, Defense Attorney W. Hensel Brown said that he would also place Dr. Edward Strecker, Philadelphia psychiatrist, on the stand.

He said Strecker would testify "that the defendant was psychotic."

Brown also declared that he would call another psychiatric expert who had been asked by the defendants' friends to talk to Gibbs about a year ago.

Gibbs took the stand following a two hour recess which was called shortly after the commonwealth abruptly rested its case.

The accused college man was questioned by the chief defense attorney, W. Hensel Brown.

START ASPARAGUS IN EARLY SPRING

Asparagus season soon will be at hand in the home garden —for harvesting and for planting new beds. The best time to do the planting is in early spring while the plants are still dormant.

Get year-old plants—about 67 for a family-size 100 foot row. Mary Washington and Martha Washington are both good varieties.

To set the plants, open a furrow about 8 inches deep and 10 inches wide. The soil should be fertile all the way to the bottom of the trench. If the fertile soil is not 8 inches deep, then a more shallow trench should be dug. Loosen the soil in the bottom of the trench and have it a little higher in the center.

Place the crowns in the trench about 18 inches apart. Spread the roots uniformly. If more than one row is planted, place the rows 5 to 6 feet apart—3 to 4 feet in the home garden if space is limited. Cover the crown with 1 or 2 inches of soil and firm well around the roots. When growth starts fill in the soil around the shoots gradually so by midsummer the trench will be completely filled.

Do not harvest any of the asparagus until two years after the plants have set. Each year, however, about the first of March, clean out the old stalks and apply a good coat of manure and 3 pounds of a 5-10-10 fertilizer for each 100 square feet of area. The manure and fertilizer should be worked into the soil immediately to a depth of 2 or 3 inches. Additional fertilizer should be applied near the end of the cutting season.

OTTAWA — Women were allowed to practice law in Canadian courts December 28, 1892.

Eight Local Gray Ladies To Graduate

Eight Gray Ladies of the Lawrence county chapter of the American Red Cross will be graduated at exercises at Deshon Veterans Administration hospital tonight.

Local women who have completed the required amount of service in hospitals are:

Mrs. Lyle Hughes, Mrs. Andrew Paytas, Mrs. Paul Walter, Miss Mary Price, Mrs. Fred Sheppele, Mrs. Leroy Webster, Mrs. William Nelson and Mrs. James Flynn.

A class of approximately 75 Gray Ladies will be graduated at the services. They are from Beaver, Butler, Ambridge, Clarion and New Castle..

BURNS PROVE FATAL

PITTSBURGH, March 16—(INS)—Funeral services will be held Saturday in Pittsburgh for Mrs. Victorine Didier, widow of Paul Didier, prominent engineer and a former Belgian consul in Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Didier, 86, has been a patient in a Pittsburgh hospital after she was burned seriously in a kitchen mishap in her home four months ago.

She was a native of France where she gained a reputation as a dressmaker.

She is survived by two sons.

Makes Report On Milk Sales In City Schools

Making a report of the cafeterias of the public schools, to the school board Wednesday night, Chairman Alec Samuels made public the amount of money paid for milk during the school year of 1949-50.

Mr. Samuels said $32,688.83 had been paid milk dealers during the school year. Of this the state refunded two cents per bottle for some of it. The pupils paid the bulk of the money.

Only Local Dealers

The report showed a wide variance in the amounts paid to various dealers and also showed one dairy located out of New Castle. Director A. C. Hyde suggested that only local milk dealers be used in providing milk for the school cafeterias and this will be done.

Mr. Samuels also suggested that in purchasing supplies or non-perishable foodstuffs for the school cafeterias that bids be taken at the beginning of the year.

He explained that much of this was now being bought from firms outside the city and local merchants were complaining. The board authorized such competitive bidding in the future.

Other Action

The board rescinded a recent motion to award a contract for band stand risers to the Humers and Berg Company for $757. Joe F. Replogle explained to the board that the risers sold by this company were not what he wanted for the band. A new contract will be advertised.

Athletic Committee Chairman W. Fulton Jackson told the board no action had been taken yet upon the selection of a new basketball coach for the senior high school. He said a survey showed that teams with which New Castle competed paid more money for coaches than has been paid here. The committee is continuing its search for a new coach.

The board agreed to go through with the proposed survey of the school situation in New Castle with a view to building new buildings. It is planned to secure someone competent to make such a survey and report later to the board.

Report 720 In YW Drive

Second Campaign Report Made Today

Second report meeting of the annual YWCA Membership Ingathering was held today at noon with a total of 654 renewals and 66 new members reported to date. The grand total is 720 memberships.

Mrs. Thomas C. Nelson, membership chairman, asks all workers and captains to go over the old file cards at the YW. She told of one worker going over the old cards and finding forty-four cards of members in her own church whose memberships had lapsed for one reason or another. Very often it is because no contact has been made with a woman for the renewal of her membership and in that way a woman fails to join when in fact she would be willing to were it brought to her attention.

Hundred Percent

The C. and M. Alliance church with Miss Murl Smith as captain has reported a one hundred percent renewal of all the women in that church who have belonged to the YWCA.

To date the First Methodist church with Mrs. M. R. Horning, captain, has secured the most new members and also the most contributors to the national YWCA. The aim is to secure a voluntary contribution of fifty cents from each member for the national.

Slavery was introduced to the American colonies in August, 1619, when 20 African Negroes were landed from a Dutch ship at Jamestown, Va.

Some Of Bonus Checks Ready To Be Mailed

HARRISBURG, March 16. — (INS)—Bonus checks for about 1,215,000 eligible Pennsylvania veterans start going through the mail tomorrow.

State treasury administrative director James B. McFadden asks veterans expecting checks to follow these instructions:

(1) Mark mail boxes or slots in apartment buildings properly.

(2) Notify the post office immediately of any change of address.

(3) If veteran who filed an application dies before receiving his check it must be reutrned at once to the Pennsylvania World War II Compensation Bureau, at Harrisburg, with notification of the date of death. A replacement check will be issued to proper beneficiaries.

(4) Treat checks with the same care as money. A large number of checks are destroyed, burned, mislaid, spoiled, mutalated, or lost.

(5) Do not sign or endorse a check until in the presence of a person who is going to cash it or in the bank where it will be deposited.

(6) Each check must be endorsed in ink by the recipient. It should not be signed if the name is not made out correctly.

(7) The check must be signed exactly, letter for letter, as the name appears on the check.

(8) If a check is torn, spoiled, or mutilated so that it may not be cashed, return it to the Bureau and ask for a replacement.

(9) If a check is lost or stolen, giving all pertinent information.

Suggests Eating Of Farm Surpluses

CINCINNATI, O., March 16.—(INS)—A farm counselor proposes a method to reduce farm surpluses —eat them.

Dr. Karl D. Butler told the United States Wholesale Grocers Association in Cincinnat that if the "incentive of competitive enterprise was allowed to work more freely, farmers themselves would produce more and more livestock products."

Aiming his criticism at the government subsidy plan, Dr. Butler said his program would "make it possible for the wage earner and all of us to eat better and at reasonable prices..."

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A nervous patient was occupying the seat of honor in Dr. Pullman's dental parlor. The good doctor peered into her mouth and in his most reassuring manner told her, "Not a thing to worry about, Mrs. Selwyn. I won't have to extract a single tooth." Then he added, "Of course, your gums will have to come out."

An ambitious young shipping clerk, studying economics in night school, was asked what he would do if he found himself with Rockefeller's income. He answered wryly, "I'd rather speculate on what Rockfeller would do if he found himself with mine!"

A fellow student, habitually downhearted and gloomy, engaged the shipping clerk's attention. He confessed that he could not live down the disgrace of knowing that his father, a notorious gangster in prohibition days, had died in the electric chair. The shipping clerk had a solution for this dilemma too. "If any busybody starts prying too closely into your family history," he suggested, "simply tell him that your old man occupied the seat of applied electricity at one of the state's largest institutions."

St. Pat's Day Remembered In Song And Symbolism...

Shure, and what would the old world do without the Irish? There would be no Mulligan stew, Irish jigs, "Casey at the Bat", John McCormack songs, and Emerald Isle, or St. Patrick's Day!

A world without Irish is like separating ham and eggs or salt and pepper. And what would happen to the color green? Perhaps it would be living a lonely, obscure life, unknown to the people instead of blazing forth in all its glory on the observance of St Patrick's Day. Then too, it's hard to imagine no Flynns, Murphys Haggertys, or O'Briens. Things just wouldn't be the same.

On St. Patrick's Day, Irish people the country over wear the jaunty hats and shamrocks, pipes and potatoes which symbolize old Erin. Children display gay green hair-bows, women wear a favorite green dress, and the men sport a bright green tie for the occasion.

Why all the excitement over one day in the year? On March 17 are recognized, and "wear the green." But then, it's really a "great day for the Irish" every day of the year!

FIRST PACIFIC CABLE

SAN FRANCISCO—(SF)—First cable to span the Pacific ocean was completed within 18 months, and was put into operation July 4, 1903.

Public and private expenditures for health and medical services in the United States in 1949 were estimated near $9,000,000,000.

Fifteen-Month-Old Child Is Drowned

PITTSBURGH, March 16.—(INS) — Fifteen - month - old Eric Overcashier was pronounced dead last night after a plunge into a neighbor's lily pond where he had been playing with his 3½-year-old sister, Donna.

The child was pulled from the pool by his mother, Mrs. Edna Overcashier, within minutes after the tragic mishap. But suburban Bethel police and firemen were unable to revive him after trying for three hours and 50 minutes.

The grief stricken mother said she had been looking out at the children every five minutes. She said the child couldn't have been in the water more than five minutes. She had heard her daughter Donna crying and ran out to find Eric with his head in the water.

Air Warnings To Be Erected

U.S. To Spend Huge Sum On Air Warnings

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON, March 16—The Air Force is going all out to complete its defense net work for the United States and Alaska.

To get the first phase in workable shape as quickly as possible, the AF has taken 50 million dollars, earmarked for other defense needs, and pushed it into the warning "fence". Need for the Alaskan warning fence is obvious, since Russia can be seen across a narrow body of water from such spots as Nome.

Invading Russian planes, for instance, could cross the narrow Bering Straits into American territory in a matter of seconds, not minutes.

The warning system would probably prove ineffectual for Alaska alone, but would prove its worth in setting up a warning of invasion to other parts of the continent, including the United States itself.

Of the $50 millions now set aside for the project, $18,800,000 will be used for construction of facilities in the United States. The remaining $31,200,000 is being devoted to the Alaskan stations in aircraft control and warning chain.

The AF funds are coming from the department's regular 1950 appropriations. Congress undoubtedly will get a chance to rush more funds into the work before it goes home this summer.

Not Enough Jet Transports

Top government aviation authorities are gravely concerned that a war emergency may find the United States without the fast air transport an atom age conflict will demand.

Their worry hasn't been broadcast but a paragraph in the recent report of the Air Co-ordinating Committee tipped it off.

ACM—representatives of leading aviation branches of the government—told Congress something should be done at once about building jet-propelled transports.

The air group and other aviation leaders have pointed out that United States supremacy in jet combat planes could be rendered meaningless if this country doesn't have the jet transports to support the combat operations with troops and supplies.

The catch is that no plane-building company has enough money to finance construction of the first prototype, which might cost $25 million.

The President And Senator Downey

The Democratic high command won't say but President Truman and Democratic National Chairman William Boyle had something to do with the premature announcement that Senator Sheridan Downey (D) California, would not seek renomination.

As soon as word got to the White House that Downey was considering stepping out of the primary, where Rep. Helen Gahagan Douglas (D), California, is seeking the senatorial nomination, the president was delighted.

Downey for some time has been sort of a thorn in the side of the administration, whereas Mrs. Douglas has gone 100 per cent down the line with the Truman program, and, as one politico put it, "then some".

So an administration leader in the Senate started word that Downey was going to quit. A few hours later a Democratic national leader from California declared, emerging from the president's office, that Downey had decided not to run again.

This produced in the pint-sized, somewhat stubborn Downey an angry eruption. He changed his mind, and announced that he had not yet decided on his political course. Chance are he now will run.

Result is that the California Democrats are split wide open coming into the 1950 campaign. James Roosevelt, eldest son of the late president, wanted to run for governor with Mrs. Douglas on the ticket as senatorial candidate.

With the result in doubt, Republican-Democratic Gov. Earl Warren, 1948 GOP vice presidential candidate, appears a shoo-in to succeed himself to Sacramento.

Drive Slow—Children Move Fast!

How To Grow Old Gracefully

PHILADELPHIA, March 16.—(INS)—One of America's most famous athletes believes the best way to grow old gracefully is—Don't lose your curiosity and watch your waistline.

The advice comes from 71-year-old T. Truxton Hare, whose waist is about as trim now as when he played guard for the University of Pennsylvania and was named All-American for four years beginning in 1897.

Hare, a member of the 1900 and 1904 Olympic track team, spoke at a recent panel of geriatrics experts in Philadelphia.

"They often tell you of the perils of alcohol, but food is the big killer of older folks," Hare said.

Keep Interested

"The important thing for people as they grow older is that they keep interested in things. When they can't continue with one activity they should get into another."

Hare, a corporation lawyer, for more than 30 years, has at various times taken up painting, etching, moth collecting, woodworking and farming.

"Until I was 40 I played tennis and golf," he said. "From 40 to 60 I took up trapshooting and did a lot of manual work on my 90-acre farm. Now I'm slowed down to archery and pottery glazing—very interesting, too."

All of which seems to toss out the window that "tend to your knitting" advice often handed oldsters.

A DAZZLING CLEAN WASH WITHOUT RINSING

...THERE'S NOTHING LIKE TIDE!

"SAVES SO MUCH TIME ON WASHDAY!"

SAYS MRS. JOY MAYO OF PORTLAND, MAINE

"No more rinsing is wonderful news for every woman who washes clothes! It's such a timesaver to take the wash right from the Tide suds, put it through the wringer, and onto the line! And everything looks so bright and clean!"

Just wash—wring out—hang up!

WOMEN EVERYWHERE say it's the best washday news ever! They love the time and trouble and water they save by skipping the rinsing! But most of all they love the way their clothes come dazzling clean. You already know how clean Tide gets clothes with rinsing—cleaner than any other washing product known. Now try the same wonderful Tide without rinsing, and compare the results. See how bright and clean your wash comes right from the wringer! Get Procter & Gamble's Tide today. Every package of Tide on your dealer's shelf right now will give you a dazzling clean wash without rinsing!

HERE ARE THE FACTS ABOUT WASHING WITHOUT RINSING

1. Will this method really get clothes clean? Yes, Tide keeps the dirt suspended in the sudsy water. When you wring out the clothes, the dirt runs out with the washwater—and clothes come from the wringer bright, fresh and CLEAN . . . and as bacteria-free as rinsed clothes.

2. Will clothes come white? Yes, dazzling white! Just see if you can tell the difference between a rinsed, and an unrinsed Tide-washed shirt!

3. How about ironing unrinsed clothes? When you wash with Tide—without rinsing—clothes dry soft and fluffy . . . iron easily.

4. Is this method safe for fabrics? Yes, it is safe . . . skipping the rinsing actually saves wear and tear, helps clothes to last noticeably longer!

The blaze wrecked the community's offices and library and decommissioned a police radio system for central Delaware county towns.

The injured included five volunteer firemen and Jeffrey Sawyer, 21, a student at Penn State center at Swarthmore, who was hurt trying to help the firefighters. He was taken to a hospital and the others were treated at the scene.

The fire, believed to have started on the roof of the three-and-a-half-story structure, was discovered shortly before 11 p. m. Flames shot high in the air and were visible for some distance.

Students from nearby Swarthmore college entered the lower floors of the building during the height of the blaze and managed to save police and borough records. Police stores of ammunition were also removed.

New Floor For High School Auditorium

Edwin L. Porter was awarded a contract Wednesday night by the New Castle school board to replace the floor in the senior high school auditorium. His bid was $3504. If the school janitorial force removes the seats, the price will be $3404. This will be done.

At the February meeting when the contract for seats was awarded, Building Superintendent S. G. Ligo reported that the floor had sagged and he believed it unsafe.

Bids were advertised and prices received Wednesday night with Mr. Porter the low bidder.

The board voted to pay a tuition bill of $29.12 presented by the Butler School Board. Three New Castle students are studying coal mining in the Butler schools.

Secretary John B. Bechtol was authorized to advertise for bids on school supplies for next year.

Coal Price Higher

Maxwell and Gibson reported to the board that they would have to charge an additional dollar per ton for coal purchased during the recent strike.

They explained that out of the state buyers had come in and bought coal and local coal operators had raised the price. They were forced to pay the additional dollar per ton. Their contract calls for such adjustment in the event of legislation or strikes and the price hike was agreed to.

The board refused to alter its position in the matter of permitting the use of public schools for religious or political meetings. A request from the Christian Science Church for use of a school building for a religious meeting was received. The request is denied.

Stadium For Graduation?

Mrs. Albert Fleisher sent a letter to the board suggesting that the stadium be used for commencement exercises instead of confining it to the Cathedral. She said money could be saved.

Secretary Bechtol was authorized to write her and explain that the Cathedral costs the board nothing for commencement exercises and that the graduating class could not wait upon the vagaries of the weather to hold a commencement exercise.

Under the law, the board must hold a convention during April to elect a superintendent. The date this year falls upon April 11 and the regular board meeting is scheduled for April 12.

There will be no contest for superintendent this time, Dr. Frank L. Burton not having been notified of the board's intention to receive applications and thus the convention will be a matter of form.

The board decided to hold the regular meeting on the night of April 11 instead of the 12th and combine the convention date with the meeting date.

GIVES BONE FOR DAUGHTER'S LEG

HOUSTON, TEXAS—Seven year old Linda Louise Hay, left and her mother Mrs. Robert C. Hay, were scheduled to undergo surgery. A section of Mrs. Hay's pelvic bone will be removed and transferred to Linda's leg. Specialists say Linda's ailment is osteema—a bone tumor.

IN LINE FOR 'DEAN OF WOMEN' TAG

REP. EDITH NOURSE ROGERS (R), Massachusetts, and Rep. Adolph J. Sabath (D), Illinois, dean of the House of Representatives, compare service records in Washington. Rep. Rogers has only 25 years service compared to Rep. Sabath's 44, but she is in line for dean of women recognition in Congress if re-elected in the fall. Rep. Mary T. THREE CORNERED FASHION SHOW

CHICAGO, ILL.—When members of the Diaper Service Institute of America met here, highlight of the day was a fashion show to introduce the latest in infant under pinnings. Far-Reaching Decision On Radio Speeches

PHILADELPHIA, March 16.—A far-reaching decision handed down by chief U. S. District Judge William H. Kirkpatrick upholds the right of radio stations to broadcast political speeches uncensored.

Judge Kirkpatrick's ruling in effect quashes $50,000 damage suits filed against four Philadelphia radio stations by Socialist leader David H. Felix.

Felix, an attorney, charged that Republican city chairman William F. Meade attacked the Americans for Democratic Action during the last city elections as a "communist-controlled" organization.

Felix was mentioned several times in the speeches as a member of ADA and his petitions charged that Meade, in effect, called him a communist.

Stations Upheld

The stations sued were KYW, WCAU, WFIL and WPEN. Felix insisted the stations were liable for damages for broadcasting the speeches.

Judge Kirkpatrick upheld the stations' contention that under federal communications law they faced loss of their licenses if they censored political speeches broadcast in a campaign.

Thomas D. McBride, representing Felix, indicated he would appeal to the third circuit court. A separate $25,000 suit against Meade personally was not involved in Judge Kirkpatrick's ruling.

Boy Injured In Fall From Barn

Richard McGary, aged 9 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. William McGary, of R.D. 3, Volant, was admitted to the Jameson Memorial hospital for treatment of injuries sustained in a fall from the roof of the barn at the McGary farm at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening.

The youth fell a distance of about 20 feet, it is stated, and suffered a severe contusion of the left side of the head and laceration of the right leg. He was in a severe state of shock when admitted, but had a good night, the hospital stated.

Morrison Heads McBride Post

V.F.W. Post Has Annual Election

At the annual election meeting of Cpl. Harry L. McBride Post No. 522, V.F.W., held in the post home on West Grant street, Wednesday evening, Wendell L. Morrison was re-elected commander for the coming year.

Other officers named, were: Senior vice commander, Mike Petro; junior vice commander, Bob Bruno; quartermaster Clarence A Leslie; chaplain, Russell Shaw; trustee for three years, James J Dennis; delegates to tri-county council, Dave Sturgeon, C. A. Leslie, and Mike Petro. Clarence A. Leslie, who was re-elected quartermaster, has served the post in this capacity for more than 25 years, it was announced.

Commander Morrison announced the appointment of Bob Sturgeon be adjutant for the coming year.

Plans were made to paint and renovate the home during the coming summer.

The new officers will be installed at the first meeting of the post in April, when new members will also receive their obligation.

Famed Monte Carlo Goes To The Dogs

MONTE CARLO—(INS)—"Monte Carlo has gone to the dogs" is the plaintive cry heard these days in the halls of the world's most fabulous gambling casino.

"Smart money"—of which there is plenty—says the Principality of Monaco is about to launch a greyhound track to help straighten out its ailing budget.

The city fathers have decided it would be undignified to solve the problem—like many a bankrupt guest—by jumping off the adjoining cliffs into the Mediterranean. Sterner measures are required, they say.

Last year the introduction of American-style "craps," imported straight from Nevada, made the old-guard wince. On top of that came a gilt-edged cabaret, in direct contrast with the studied splendor of the casino.

Where will the dogs run? That's the big question. Some of the cynics are even betting that "Le Fromage," the stately garden in front of the casino, will be torn up to make way for the greyhounds and their stuffed rabbits.

TREE TOPS

PORTLAND, Ore.—(INS)—A record harvest of 801,000 Christmas trees in Oregon last year was more than 50,000 above the preceding year. Approximately 58,000 trees were cut as surplus growth in national forests in Oregon and the remainder were taken from private and state-owned cutover land.

CREAMO ONLY MARGARINE WITH CREAM

5 to 1 choose Creamo in Taste-Test

Housewives will be interested to know Creamo Margarine's popularity has grown faster in the past few years than the combined average of all other brands. This is due to the fact that Creamo is the only margarine made with cream.

In taste tests between Creamo and the most expensive type breadspreads, participating school children chose Creamo Margarine 5 to 1.

Users say Creamo's creamy-rich flavor is so distinctively delicious, the first taste is noticeably more flavorful than ordinary spreads. Not only does Creamo taste better—it's more economical, too. The extra flavor goes so much farther than ordinary spreads.

Receipts On Turnpike Are Higher

HARRISBURG, March 16—(INS)—The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission today reported 1949 receipts on the 160-mile Irwin-Middlesex super-highway amounted to $7,049,543 or an increase of 19.3 per cent over 1948 revenue.

Last year, the PTC said, 3,848,788 fare-paying vehicles used the turnpike for a gain of 13 per cent over 1948.

Fare-producing vehicles on the super toll highway during the year accounted for 374,722,022 miles of travel for an average per mile rate of $.0188.

The turnpike soon will stretch from the Ohio border to the metropolitan Philadelphia area, a distance of 327 miles.

From its October 1, 1940, opening to December 31, 1949, more than $33,000,000 revenue was derived from 20,573,619 fare-paying vehicles covering almost two billion miles of travel, the commission reported.

July, 1949, was the top month since the opening, with 480,072 vehicles tallied while July 2 was the peak when 26,104 vehicles rolled over the express road.

Pittsburgh War Bride Goes Home

PITTSBURGH, March 16—(INS)—An Italian girl who was courted by mail and later married a Pittsburgh man, leaves for New York to return to Rome.

She is Mrs. Ida Melisi Yates, 20. Her year-old daughter, Carol Ann, will accompany her.

Mrs. Yates, daughter of an officer of the Bank of Naples, and her American husband are divorced.

The ex-husband heard about the girl from friends and began a correspondence that ended in marriage in 1947.

She formerly was a secretary in the Italian air force and was graduated from Naples university.

Gen. Bradley Says No War Imminent

WASHINGTON, March 16.—(INS)—Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, reportedly told a senate committee Wednesday that he sees no likelihood of a war in the next two or three years.

Bradley testified at closed-door session of an appropriations committee handling military funds. Chairman Thomas (D) Okla., later told reporters:

"He didn't see any occasion for a shooting war immediately. My impression (of his testimony) was that there is no evidence we are going to become involved in a hot war immediately—for two or three years.

"But the size of the budget makes it obvious we are not taking things for granted."

The defense department is asking 13 billion 400 million dollars for the coming fiscal year.

Drive Slow—Children Move Fast!

Good Taste

By FRANCINE MARKEL

DON'T OVERBURDEN YOUR HUSBAND WITH YOUR TROUBLES

"We have been married for three years now and as time goes on my husband shows a decreasing interest in our home problems. Before we were married, he seemed to get a thrill out of home-planning and was always interested in working out budgets of costs. But now showing him a bill throws him into a spell of depression, although financially we have lately been on the upgrade."

Answer: Do you have the habit of greeting your husband at the door each evening with a litany of the day's domestic woes? So many women have and it's no wonder their husbands lose interest in such problems. At least wait until you've tucked a good meal under his belt and given him a chance to relax before bringing up any necessarily unpleasant subject. And do try to spare him when he doesn't have to know about it.

By all means, reach an agreement by which you are to receive a regular allowance covering all routine household bills and what is mutually agreed upon as a reasonable budget for your clothes and accessories. If he maintains this allowance and you keep expenses within it, his depression will be kept at a minimum. If further expenses accrue from extraordinary circumstances, such as a leak, broken window, dentistry, etc., save the bad news to present at the most propitious moment—and a wise wife studies her husband to know when that occurs. Unless some emergency requires it, never discuss bills or report troubles to your husband before breakfast, before dinner, on Sunday or over the telephone while he is at office.

Question: Who should be invited to the rehearsal supper taking place before the wedding?

Answer: All of the members of the wedding party, the bridegroom's immediate family and any other of the bride's friends whom she chooses to invite.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly send personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped, addressed envelopes.

It is estimated that about $10 million is stolen from banks by employes each year.

Salary Action Taken By Board

Teachers' Salaries Maximum Hiked For Future Years

Maximum salaries for teachers in the New Castle public schools will be $200 above the state mandated figure when the teachers now serving reach the state maximum.

This action was taken Wednesday night by the New Castle board upon motion of Mrs. Elizabeth Kleckner.

In addition, the board raised the cost of living bonus for each teacher from $180 to $200 for the 1950-51 school term.

Not Permanent

The increase of $20 in the cost of living bonus is temporary as it has been in past years. This means that a new teacher with a bachelor's degree will receive $2200 the first year and those with masters' degrees will receive $2400. It applies to every teacher in the system.

The $200 premium over mandated maximum will not go into effect for about four years. The state mandated maximums for teachers are $3800 for teachers with bachelors degrees and $4000 for masters degree holders. The new figure, if kept in effect will be $4000 and $4200.

"If new legislation is passed by the state raising teachers' salaries, do you intend this premium to apply on that also?" asked President Wilbur E. Flannery.

Mrs. Kleckner amended her motion to read "present mandated maximums".

"Are there any teachers at maximum at the present time?" asked Dr. Flannery. He was informed there were none.

"I am not in favor of this motion," said Direcotr A. C. Hyde, "because we do not know what is ahead."

"If passed we will be committing future boards to a financial policy they did not make," said Director A. L. Hoffmaster. "It seems to me we are just holding out a bait for new teachers."

Attract Outsiders

"This maximum would be attractive to teachers from outside New Castle," said Mrs. Elizabeth Kleckner, author of the motion.

"As it is now the county schools pay as much as the city schools and teachers in the county system living in the country can live cheaper."

Superintendent Frank L. Burton was asked if such a premium over the maximum would help and he replied that he believed it would.

Upon vote the motion passed, seven to one, Mr. Hyde voting in the negative. Mrs. Daisy Slater was not present at the board meeting.

The board also voted to appoint a committee to investigate alleged inequalities in the salaries of some eight teachers in the system.

McCulloch Heard By Senior Group

H. R. McCulloch, assistant director of Agriculture Extension Service in Pennsylvania, former county agent here, addressed the Senior Extension club of Lawrence county as its monthly meeting in Westfield grange hall Wednesday evening.

Mr. McCulloch spoke on "Your Agriculture Extension Service" and pointed out the many ways in which extension service is aiding the farmers throughout the state with their various problems. His talk was illustrated with slides.

Last night's meeting was the first for the new officers, Homer Matthews, Jr., the president, being in charge. The program committee announced the program as planned for the coming year. They will be addressed by Dr. A. L. Opp, local veterinarian, at their next meeting. Plans have also been made for a visit to Pittsburgh during the summer, when the group will attend a ball game.

Mrs. Clarence Steese had charge of the recreation program during the social hour.

The word "caucus" is a corruption of the Calker's club, founded by Samuel Adams for the purpose of recommending the best man for political office.

County Hi-Y Boys At State Capital

Three Lawrence county youths help assume the responsibility today of running the government of the state of Pennsylvania.

The boys, representing the Union, Shenango and Shenango Street branch Hi-Y organizations, departed Wednesday night to attend a two-day legislative session in Harrisburg to be conducted by the Hi-Y groups from all over the state.

Charles Robison, Union, Jack Lowry, Shenango, and Earl Webber, Shenango YMCA, accompanied a group of boys from the Pittsburgh area who made the trip via chartered bus. The boys planned to stay in Altoona Wednesday night and complete the trip today.

To Present Bills

The Union representative and the Shenango representative both have bills on the legislative docket that will be brought to the floor of the house.

Charles Robison will introduce a measure intended to put stiffer curbs on the restoration required of strip mine operations once the coal removing has been completed. Shenango Hi-Y is advocating a codification of the state fish and game laws and an administration of the code by one body. Currently these is a state commission for each the fish laws and the game laws.

The session will be climaxed by a banquet Friday evening that will be attended by Gov. James Duff and Lt. Gov. Daniel Strickler.

Friday Service At Temple Israel

Sabbath services at Temple Israel synagogue, will be conducted Friday evening at 8 o'clock, with Dr. Iwan J. Gruen in charge.

Dr. Gruen will speak on the subject, "Impression of Inspiration?"

It never gets too cold to snow, but it sometimes gets too cold to snow in flakes.

Mrs. J. E. Elliott Is Given State Honor

Mrs. John E. Elliot, 314 Berger place, has been appointed by Governor James Duff of Pennsylvania as a member of the governor's Advisory Citizen Committee on the Mid-Century White House Conference for Children and Youth.

The purpose of this committee will be the evaluation of the health, welfare, education and employment services available to the children of the commonwealth and the preparation of recommendations for improving these services.

The official body in Pennsylvania for the White House conference is the Interdepartmental Committee on Children's Services, which consists of a deputy attorney general and directors of bureaus in the State Departments of Health, Labor and Industry, Public Assistance, Public Instruction and Welfare. The Citizens Advisory committee will act both as a fact-finding and advisory group to the Interdepartmental committee.

Tifereth Israel Friday Services

The early religious service will be held this Friday evening at 5:45 p. m. at Tifereth Israel synagogue and the regular late service will take place at 8:15 p. m. in the main synagogue.

Rabbi Jules Lipschutz will officiate and preach a sermonic discourse upon the theme, "The Greatnes of Moses," and will expound an historic survey upon the subject, "The Ideals of Hassidism," at the Oneg Sabbat table.

Rev. Benjamin Miller, Canton, will chant the Sabbath liturgies. Mr. and Mrs. Percy Alpern will tender the reception to the assembly.

The children's Seder service of the religious school will be held Sunday, March 26, at 10 a. m. at Tifereth Israel synagogue. The faculty and newly instituted P. T. A. will assist in the exercises.

Order Service To Return To Washington

WASHINGTON, March 16.—(INS)—John S. Service, State Department Diplomatic Officer accused of Communist tendencies by Sen. McCarthy (R) Wis., was ordered today to return to Washington to appear before the department's loyalty board.

Service's new assignment as consul to Calcutta was cancelled while he was enroute to the post. His appearance in Washington was suggested by the Civil Service Commission's loyalty review board.

McCarthy charged at the Senate subcommittee investigation of Communism in the State Department that Service was a Red "Collaborator" and a "bad security risk."

The Wisconsin Senator said the Civil Service board had ruled "adversely" on Service's loyalty within the last two weeks.

Air Force Reserves Will Meet Tonight

The 9539th Air Force reserve squadron will meet tonight in the ROA clubrooms on Washington street at 8 o'clock, it is announced by J. M. Frew, Jr.

Ninth Air Force officers will be present for this meeting to discuss reserve matters and exhibit combat films. Several important points concerning procurement of equipment will be presented for discussion.

It is urged that all members of the organization attend this meeting as well as any other air force officers and airmen who have not as yet been assigned to a reserve unit.

Today's Fashion Flash

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK, March 16.—(INS)—The sheerest woolen ever made—transparent wool-chiffon—was introduced today in New York.

The new French fabric yanks wool out of the snuggies class, puts it in the seductive category.

Parisian Jacques Lesur, woolen novelty t; coon, said his new sheer wool (labeled "mitsa") looks more "substantial" than silk chiffon, but its just as drapable—see throughable and dressy.

"The only difference," Lesur maintains, "is that wool is warmer than silk.

"In wool-chiffon a lady can be warm as a bear—though bare."

Selecting Jury For Trial Of Student In Iowa City Case

IOWA CITY, Ia., March 16.—(INS)—Selection of a 32-man jury panel neared completion today in the murder trial of University of Iowa student Robert Bednasek, who says he thinks "all the time" of his strangled co-ed sweetheart.

Twenty-five prospective jurors—14 men and 11 women—were seated when the trial resumed today. A jury of 12 will be chosen from the completed group.

Bednasek, a husky, 24-year-old student of abnormal psychology, is accused of the candlelight strangling of Margaret Ann "Gee-Gee" Jackson, 20, last Dec. 11 in a borrowed bedroom at the "Empty Arms", a shabby off-campus men's rooming house.

The world's loudest noise was the volcanic explosion of the island of Krakatoa, Dutch East Indies, in 1833. It was heard by human ears in Bangkok, over 1,400 miles away.

Abraham Lincoln was only defeated once by direct vote of the people—in the election of state legislators following his return from the Black Hawk war in 1832.

Westminster Succumbs To Davis-Elkins 85-75 In NAIB Tourney

Personal Fouls Hurt Titan Quintet; Winners Hot In Second Half Drive

KANSAS CITY, March 16.—Westminster college was eliminated from the NAIB tournament here late yesterday by Davis & Elkins cagers who defeated the Titans 85-75.

The Titans matched the West Virginians basket for basket during the first half of the contest but began to fade under the relentless scoring attack of the Senators soon after the second half got underway.

Davis & Elkins was ahead 39-37 at the half and led by 10 to 16 points during the last 14 minutes of the game.

Payne Paces Winners

Carl Payne, Davis & Elkins forward, tossed in 10 field goals and five free throws to take high scoring honors with 25 points. Payne's high scoring tactics were not unexpected since he has been one of the leading scorers in the Tri-State District all season.

A lion's share of the West Virginia victory went to two reserves, Gutshall and Hill, who together accumulated 30 points for the Senators.

Westminster's efforts were severely handicapped by personal fouls which stifled the Titan scoring attack and handed Davis & Elkins 25 points via the free throw route alone. Allen McCullough Titan captain and backboard control man, was taken out of the game late in the second quarter with four personals charged against him. Washabaugh put him back in the contest midway of the third period but he was thumbed out of the contest almost immediately on his fifth personal. Big Red King and Clyde Shaffer went out on fouls early in the fourth quarter and Washabaugh completed the game with only one regular, Jack Jones, in the contest. Reserves Ed Halas, John Abraham Dick Fuhrer, and Don Meyers played most of the final half of the game.

Titans Lack Punch

The usual scoring power of the Titans was absent. Westminster would have lost by a wider margin except that the Titans made 23 out of 27 points from the foul line.

King was high for the Titans with 17 points. Halas was close behind with 15 markers and Jones had 12 points.

Two former Aliquippa high stars played important reserve roles for the West Virginia quintet. Joe Ceravolo and Pukach combined to score 15 of the winners' points.

Top-seeded Hamline got its lumps yesterday also. Central college of Missouri trounced the defending champion Pied Pipers 76 to 66.

Brooklyn college, Baldwin-Wallace, Indiana State of Terra Haute beside Davis-Elkins are the most formidable teams in the tournament and all annexed second round wins yesterday.

Yanks-Senators Talking Trades

Yanks Are After Rae Scarborough

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 16.—Reports that the Yankees were about to close a package deal for Washington pitcher Rae Scarborough circulated again today as the Senators came to St. Petersburg for an exhibition tilt.

Officials of both clubs refused to admit, however, that such a deal was in the final stages.

In spite of such testimony players are convinced, however, that a deal is in the works. They insist that Harris has been offered Johnny Lindell, Snuffy Stirnweiss, Gus Niarhos and Duane Pillette in a swap for the ace Washington chucker.

Falcons Edged In Final Game

In their final game of the current season the Polish Falcons lost a heart breaker to the powerful Farrell-Sharon CIO, 60 to 58 last night at the Falcon court. Trailing at half-time 33 to 21, the Falcons counted with 37 points in the final two periods, only to be nosed out in the wainirg moments of the game.

Guerino with 25 points led the out of town five and was a thorn in the side of the Falcons throughout the contest. For the Falcons Russell with 16 and A Koszela with 11 paced the Falcons.

In a thrilling preliminary the Gerson Five defeated the Polish Falcons Reserves 43 to 41. Vitale and Lewis paced the Gersons with 23 points between them, Russell with 13 points was high man for the Falcons.

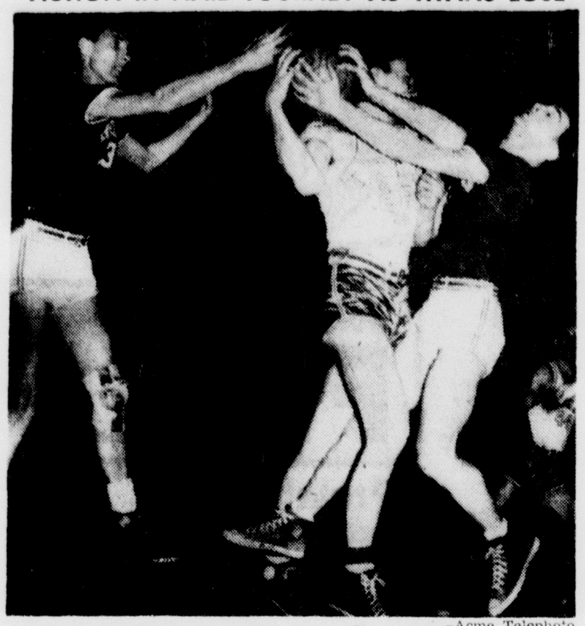
Semi-Finals Tonight In Tri-County Tourney Pits Old Rivals

ACTION IN NAIB TOURNEY AS TITANS LOSE



—Acme Telephoto

Major Leaguers Resent Chandler's March 1 Ruling

(By International News Service)

A swelling undercurrent of resentment over the new baseball rule that starts all spring training on March 1 was growing fast to man-sized proportions today in the camps of major league clubs.

Latest to lash out at the "automatic starting date" installed by Commissioner A. B. Chandler was Red Rolfe, manager of the Detroit Tigers, who said:

"The pitchers should be allowed to start training a week earlier. This way, with everybody starting at the same time, the batters are 'way ahead of them."

Look at Scores

For proof of that, Rolfe added, one had only to look at the scores of exhibition games to date.

And the scores have been really something.

Yesterday, in the five games involving only major league teams—not counting, that is, the games where a big league club played a minor league club—there were 75 runs scored!

Best of the bunch, going by quantative standards, was the episode between the New York Yankees and the Philadelphia Phils at Clearwater, Fla.

Here, 29 gentlemen pattered over the plate. Twenty-three of them, by the way, were Yankees. Final: Yanks 23, Phils 6. Joe Collins and Gerr Coleman had grand-slam homers for the world champs.

At St. Petersburg, Fla., it was Boston Red Sox 11, St. Louis Cardinals 4. At Tampa, Fla., it was Cincinati Reds 7, Boston Braves 6—with three Redleg homers in one inning against Boston's Johnny Sain.

At West Palm Beach, Fla., some semblance of order prevailed. Three Philadelphia Athletic pitchers—Bob Hooper, Ed Klieman and Bob Shantz—held a substitute-filled Brooklyn Dodger team to four hits, and the A's won, 3 to 1.

Feller Chased

All was merry, though, at Pasadena, Cal., where the St. Louis Browns spanked the Chicago White Sox, 11 to 2, and at Tucson, Ariz., where the Cleveland Indians, with Bob Feller starting but not lasting, got by Oakland of the Pacific Coast League 12 to 11.

Other scores: Los Angeles (PCL) 5, Chicago Cubs 4, at Fullerton, Cal.; Pittsburgh Pirates 7, Sacramento (PCL) 6, at San Bernardino, Cal.; Giants 5, Mexican All-Stars 4.

Ralph Greenleaf Called By Death

PHILADELPHIA, March 16.—(INS)—Ralph Greenleaf, one of the all-time greats of the pocket billiard champions, is dead.

The final run-off for the 14.1 time world titlist came suddenly yesterday afternoon. He died from an internal hemorrhage 15 minutes after being rushed to a Philadelphia hospital.

A lover of the sport since childhood, when he was acclaimed as the "boy wonder" at the age of eight, he refused to go to a hospital Tuesday in hopes of keeping an exhibition date in New York last night.

"Ralph's whole life was tournament billiards," his wife said.

New Balk Rule Causes Strain

Pirates Find Rule Bothers Rookies

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., March 16.—(INS)—Pittsburgh Pirate officials are of the opinion that rookie pitchers are under too much strain as a result of the National league umpires interpretation of the new balk rules.

During the past two days, both Pirate and White Sox youngsters were made nervous when constant balks were called against them. Latest to suffer was Bob Friend of Purdue, who made his pitching debut yesterday against Sacramento of the Pacific Coast league.

Pirates Win

The Pirates won, 7-6, over the minor leaguers.

Ralph Kiner, Pirates home run slugger who sustained a wrist injury in a collision with White Sox' Herman Reich on Tuesday, was resting at his Alhambra home He expects to return to the lineup in several days.

The Pirates will play the Hollywood Stars today, another Pacific Coast league team.

Duquesne Meets Toughest Foe In CCNY Game Tonight

By JOHN BARRINGTON
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, March 16.—Two teams with but a single thought—to run and run and run—meet two quintets of the "whoa, there" variety tonight in the National Invitational basketball tournament semi-finals.

The speed demons are Bradley—top-seeded and the pre-tourney favorite on the strength of a 27-3 regular season record—and the tournament's new "Cinderella" combine, City College of New York.

CCNY Fast Team

Bradley meets St. John's and CCNY plays Duquesne. How well the Redmen and the Dukes can apply the brakes will determine their chances of stopping the pell-mell Braves and Beavers.

The toughest job belongs to Duquesne. It is meeting the hottest team in the tournament—the team that eliminated defending champion San Francisco and handed Kentucky its worst defeat in 20 years under the coaching of Baron Adolph Rupp.

The Dukes are none too well equipped for their task, manpower-erwise. In winning from LaSalle on Tuesday, Coach Dudie Moore used only one substitute and then with only three minutes to play.

All four semi-finalists have some eye-catching individual stars. Bradley boasts of its highly publicized Gene Melchiorre and Paul Unruh. St. John's bases its attack on speedy Gerry Calabrese and lanky Bob Zawoluk.

Dukes Well Knit

City College—with four sophomores and senior Irwin Dembrot in the starting lineup—has its scoring specialist Ed Warner, whose uncanny ability under the basket has netted 26 points in each of his two games.

Duquesne's flashiest performers are Chuck Cooper, the play-making center, and Ed Dahler, six-foot five-inch forward and high scorer. But the Dukes are easily the most closely-knit five-man unit in the tourney.

Lakers Defeat Baltimore, 96-62

(By International News Service)

George Mikan and his Minneapolis Lakers maintained their grip on the Central Division leadership of the National Basketball Association with an impressive 96 to 62 win over Baltimore.

The Lakers hold a one game lead over Rochester ,who kept pace with the league-leaders by tripping Washington, 93 to 64.

The New York Knickerbockers closed their regularly scheduled home season with a 88 to 84 overtime win over the Boston Celtics.

In other games, Philadelphia eked out a 83 to 80 win over Anderson, and Waterloo defeated Sheboygan, 87 to 69.

Boosters Meet Cortland Five

East Brook Boosters tangle with the Cortland Bulldogs tonight on the East Brook High floor. Game time is 8:15.

A fast preliminary contest will precede the main game.

Three Section 24 basketball rivalries will be revived tonight in the semi-finals of the Tri-County tournament at the Westminster college gym.

The Wampum-Mt. Jackson and New Wilmington - East Brook clashes highlight the evening's card, which also features Bessemer-Union and Evans City-Stoneboro in consolation games.

Bessemer and Union meet in the opener at 7 o'clock followed by the Wampum-Mt. Jackson game at 8, the New Wilmington- East Brook game at 9, and the Stoneboro-Evans City tilt at 10.

Mt. Jackson and Wampum split even in two games during the season—Mt. Jackson taking the first 51-42 and Wampum taking the other 51-48. The loss to Mt. Jackson was the only one suffered by Wampum in Section 24 play.

First Appearance

It will be the first tournament appearance of the Indians, who received a bye and a forfeit. Mt. Jackson defeated Bessemer and Union to enter the semi-finals.

New Wilmington and East Brook renew a series that also shows one win for each team during the regular campaign. New Wilmington took the first 43-40 but East Brook roared to a 55-29 win in the second.

New Wilmington, fourth-seeded in the tournament, has been the most impressive looking tournament team to date, and is expected to give second-seeded East Brook a real battle.

All four semi-finalists won their games and dropped the away games to tonight's opponents.

Union and Bessemer find themselves in the same position as the other county teams—each team has won once in the two game series. Union took the first 40-28 and Bessemer took the second 43-37.

Both were dumped into the consolidation brackets by suffering first game losses to Mt. Jackson. Bessemer advanced to the quarter-final in the consolation tournament by taking Zelienople 37-28.

In the other consolation game Evans City meets Stoneboro.

TOURNAMENT SHORTS

Good crowds have been on hand for both of the first two nights of play in the tournament. . . . It is estimated that 1800 persons witnessed the two nights' games. . . . Pat Kerr and Tom Hutchison have dominated the scoring in the tournament to date but one of the better shots in the games played was made by Keith Macek in the first quarter of the game with Union Tuesday night. . . . Almost completely bottled up Keith shot an over the head, one handed shot from the right of the foul line that would have made a pro proud.

Villanova Gives Coach Jim Leonard New Grid Contract

PHILADELPHIA, March 16.—(INS)—Jim Leonard, who joined Villanova college last year as head football coach, has signed a new contract calling for three-years of his services at an undisclosed sum.

Leonard, coached the Wildcats to one of their best seasons in 1949, losing only one game—an upset to Tulsa. He went to the main line school on a contract calling for a year to year renewal.

A former Notre Dame star, Leonard played with the Philadelphia Eagles in the National League, then tutored at Holy Cross, and was head coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1945.

Dan Hall wrote: "Speaking of umpires, Ted Springer, of New Castle, Pa., looked good handling the Cardinals' squad games. He hopes to land a job in the Mid-Atlantic loop." Springer, a member of the Lawrence County Umpires Association, "worked" City and County loop games last season. He attended the George Barr School of Umpires at "St. Pete". Springer workers at the U. S. & F., and resides in Court street.

Lefty Gomez, once a top hurler for the Yanks, now sells sporting equipment. . . . Dizzy Dean, former pitcher, will be a television commentator on New York games. . . . Lawrence County Sportsman's Association will meet Tuesday night. . . . Answer to Pottery fishermen: It is illegal up to April 15 to fish, seine or trap minnows in any body of water stocked with trout, or in any run or creek, whether or not the run or creek is, or is not, stocked. The only bodies of water where one can fish, seine or trap minnows is in rivers, lakes, or ponds not stocked. The seine or trap is 'looked upon' as a "rod", according to former Fish Protector "Rosy" White. . . . George Chip and the late Leo Houck fought four times. . . . Encouraged by his quick knockout of Dave Pinto, Frankie Moran is gazing ahead for future bouts. . . . A competitive written examination will be given to 334 applicants at 9 a. m., March 25, at Old Central high school, Harrisburg, for entrance to the State's School of Conservation at Brockway, Pa. Candidates are from 63 of Pennsylvania's 67 counties.

Furs under 80 names are commonly listed for sale in the U. S. About one-half of them are actually rabbit. Sheared, dyed or somehow processed to "look like what it ain't," rabbit fur becomes several kinds of seal, beaver, sable, muskrat and other imitations of "honest" furs, the state game commission says. . . . So far, Oakland Sportsmen's Club, Inc., is the only body which has submitted a list of 1950 officers. Frank Zajac is president; Andy Conti, vice president; C. F. Freese, secretary, and Larry Kehna, treasurer. . . . One of the best heavyweight punchers is Rock Marciano (correct name Marchegiano), a former all-around athlete of Brockton, Mass., high school. Of 26 fights, he has won 24 with a knockout. . . . Biggest gate receipts Buffalo has drawn, was $67,000, when Lou Scozza battled Jimmy Slattery, in 1930. . . . Jack Laing is the new sports editor of the Buffalo Courier-Express, the veteran, Billy Kelly having retired. However, Kelly will carry on his column, "Before and After". The Bison city is going big for wrestling, Yukon Eric and Nanjo Singh, in two bouts having drawn 25,000 fans. They're not in the Al Haft organization which provides wrestlers for The Arena.

Stocks Push To New Highs

NEW YORK, March 16.—(INS)—Stocks pushed up to new three-and-a-half years highs in active forenoon trading today. Scattered issues gained as much as a point as the list extended yesterday's new rise putting the reporting tape behind for a brief period.

Activity tapered toward noon but most leaders held around their highs. First hour volume totaled 620,000 shares.

Allied Chemical again performed spectacularly, rising 4 points. The issue was up 8 points yesterday. Union Pacific advanced a point. Philco, General Motors, Douglas, Gulf, Richfield Oil, National Steel, Woolworth and Martin strengthened a half or better.

N.Y. cotton opened irregularly higher. Chicago wheat eased fractionally. Bonds and curb shares followed Big Board issues higher.

COFFEE JINX

HARLAN, Ia.—(INS)—It was an expensive cup of coffee for Eugene Hodapp when he parked his garbage truck behind a local cafe. The truck's brakes slipped and the truck rolled back into the side of the garage, breaking a window and knocking out a big hole in the brick wall. The mishap occurred on Hodapp's first day in the garbage pick-up business—and during his first stop for coffee.

Commissioners Consider Pleas

Requests for county aid on township roads have been made to the county commissioners in the past few weeks and the commissioners are considering the requests.

Such aid has been given at various times in past years. Townships finding themselves short of funds have asked county aid and in some cases it has been given. The money, if allocated, would come from the liquid fuels tax fund.

TURNPIKE WORK STARTS

Preliminary work on the turnpike has started in Little Beaver township. County Commissioner Harvey B. Bush has a summer cottage in the township and this will be moved to make way for the new highway. Drillings are being made now to determine the sub-strata of the ground in the district.

Mr. Bush's cottage is located just twenty feet from the middle of the new highway which means that his entire cottage is in turnpike area.

Misapplication Of Large Fund Charged

PHILADELPHIA, March 14.—(INS)—A bank official gave statistics in federal court today to back up charges that Charles B. Matsinger, former executive vice president of an Easton bank, misapplied nearly $250,000 of the institution's funds in a "check-kiting" deal.

The witness, Kenneth C. Snyder, secretary of the Lafayette Trust Co. of Easton, was the first witness called by the government as the trial got under way before Judge Allan K. Grim.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Thomas J. Curtin told the jury of eight women and four men that Matsinger is not charged with embezzling or stealing the bank's moneys, but only with "misapplying" the funds.

A 15-count indictment charges that $250,190 of the bank's money was used in the alleged check-kiting arrangement from September, 1946, to February, 1947, with a "loss" of $50,000 revealed with the deal ended. The "loss", however, was made up to the bank.

Matsinger, 59, was charged with entering the kiting arrangement with Samuel S. Backer, owner of an Easton Army and Navy goods store and a builder. Backer, indicted with Matsinger, entered a plea of no defense and will be sentenced when Backer's case is completed.
